

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Publishing and the Creation of an Alternate Economy of Value	1
1. Modernity as Rupture: The Concentration of Print Capital	17
2. The Stability of the Center: Tokyo Publishing and the Great Kantō Earthquake	51
3. The Static Canon: Kaizōsha's Complete Works of Contemporary Japanese Literature	91
4. Defining and Defending Literary Value: Debates, 1919–1935	139
5. The Dynamic Canon: The Akutagawa and Naoki Prizes for Literature	181
Epilogue	223
Appendix	237
Notes	243
Works Cited	297
Index	311