

Contents

1	PLAN-IT: The Key to Cognitive Self-Assertion	9
	– Pause for thought	9
	– Our rights in dealing with others	10
	– Credit—where it's due!	12
	– Expectations	17
	– PLAN-IT—the mental first stage of interpersonal effectiveness	19
2	"Let's make sure I've got this clear"	25
	– Communication analysis	26
	– Conversation management skills	29
	– Open questioning	30
	– Self disclosure or free information	31
	– Reflective listening	32
	– Exits	34
3	It's the Way You Do It	37
	– Eye contact	38
	– Facial expression	40
	– Hands and gesturing	41
	– Body language in a group	43
	– Personal space	45
	– Mirroring	46
	– Voice tone and volume	47
	– The cosmetics of body language	48
4	Making Friends—The Numbers Game and First Impressions	50
	– The numbers game—friendships are statistical	51
	– Rejection training	52
	– Self-blame	53
	– The 'beautiful person' syndrome	54
	– Developing 'people interest' or defocussing	54
	– The people pyramid	56
	– Regularity and frequency	58
	– Those first few seconds	59
	– Making friends is a constant experiment	60
5	Developing Closer Relationships	63
	– Pacing the development of intimacy	64
	– Exchanging information and feelings	65
	– Using 'verbal shorthand'	68
	– Gender differences in rates of disclosure	69
	– Body language, personal space and intimacy zones	69

– Balance in close relationships	70
– Conniving together: the bond of intimacy	71
6 When the Honeymoon is Over	73
– Communication breakdowns	74
– Not stating your needs	74
– Stating your needs too forcefully	74
– Maintaining good communication	75
– Risk times in marriage	78
– Making the marital deal	82
– Guidelines for marital success	83
7 Doing a Good Deal Better	85
– Preparing for a negotiation	86
– The process of negotiation	89
– Get the JIST of the deal	90
– Negotiating a breakdown	91
– Showing you mean business	92
– Workable compromise	93
– Restating the deal	94
8 Win That Interview!	95
– The right to perform well at interviews	96
– Who takes the lead?	99
– Your comfort	100
– The three phases of the interview	101
– The opening game	101
– The middle game	102
– The end game	105
– The 'stress interview'	107
9 Self-Protection Routines for Staying Calm in Rows, Arguments and Confrontations	112
– Assertion versus aggression or compliance	113
– Dealing with criticism	114
– Selective responding	114
– Negative enquiry	115
– Criticising others	117
– Dealing with sniping and nagging	118
– Requesting your rights	120
– Refusing unwelcome demands	121
– Repeated refusal	123
– Finally	126
Further reading	128
Appendices	129
Index	137