

Contents

	Preface	ix
1	Literature and colonial society before the Second World War	1
2	Literature and new nations: the Second World War and after	22
3	New literatures and nationalisms	39
4	Nigeria I: the beginnings and Achebe	58
5	Nigeria II: Soyinka and Ogun	78
6	West Indies I: Naipaul, Harris and history	98
7	West Indies II: Walcott, Brathwaite and authenticity	118
8	New Zealand: Frank Sargeson and colloquial realism	140
9	Australia: Richardson to A. D. Hope and the middle class	157
10	India: R. K. Narayan and tradition	178
11	Canada: Robertson Davies and identity	196
12	Three novels and some conclusions: Guerrillas, The Adaptable Man, Heat and Dust	215
	Notes	233
	Index	242