

TABLE OF CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	vii
INTRODUCTION	3
PART I The More or Less of Success
Chapter 1: The Insufficiency of Survival	15
Chapter 2: The Sum Total of Possibility	22
Chapter 3: The Greater Tyranny of Thought	31
Chapter 4: The Economics of Want	41
PART II Ideas of the Land
Chapter 5: America as the Woman Who Waits	57
Chapter 6: America as Wonder	80
Chapter 7: Luminism and Terribilità	97
Chapter 8: America as "Eventing"	107
Chapter 9: The American Claimant	117
Chapter 10: The Payment of Ego-Pacts	135
PART III Winning and Losing
Chapter 11: "Presence" and "Pittsburgh"	153
Chapter 12: Getting Goods, Being Good, Good Getting, and Well-Being	172
Chapter 13: In the Nick and Out of It	196
Chapter 14: Fate, Will, and the Illusion of Freedom	210
Chapter 15: Principles, Things, People, and Mass	225
Chapter 16: Bottom Being	246
PART IV Renewal or Revenge
Chapter 17: Making Scenes	275
Chapter 18: Guilt, Shame, and Laughter	283
Chapter 19: Strain and Relaxation	304
Chapter 20: Eyeless in Hate; Killing in Style	317
Chapter 21: Some Versions of Melodrama	332
Chapter 22: Huckleberry Finn / The American	345
PART V The Drive Toward Conclusions
Chapter 23: Working Up the Last Effect	385

Chapter 24:	History—as Facts and as Faith	394
Chapter 25:	Timing, Tact, and Long Views	412
Chapter 26:	Opposing Perfection	439
Chapter 27:	The Making of a Good Story	457

PART VI The Economics of Going On

Chapter 28:	Going Up and Coming Down	485
Chapter 29:	Dealing with Dread	502
Chapter 30:	Sufficiency	517

SELECTED BIBLIOGRAPHY	527
INDEX	541