

Contents

Introduction "As with a Startling Picture":

Modernism and the Domestic Sphere, 3

1. "For She Asks Forever Only Help": The Critique of Maternalist Reform Discourse in Djuna Barnes's Ryder, 39
2. Tortured Bodies and Twisted Words: The Antidomestic Vision of Jean Toomer's Cane, 65
3. Freaked: Eastern European Immigration and the "American Home" in Edna Ferber's American Beauty, 95
4. "Not Sentimental": The Double Bind of White Working-Class Femininity in Tillie Olsen's Yonnondio, 123
5. Siren Calls: Consumer Revolution and the Body Beautiful in Nathanael West's The Day of the Locust, 149
6. "Not Charity Yet!": State-Supported Capitalism and the Secret Life of God in Flannery O'Connor's Wise Blood, 181

Notes, 209

Bibliography, 233

Index, 253