

Contents

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS vii

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS ix

INTRODUCTION 1

CHAPTER ONE

“How Can They Give It When It Is Our Own?”: Imagining the Indian Land Question from Here

17

CHAPTER TWO

“Why Did They Take Our Hunting Grounds?”: John Richardson
(1796–1852) Laments for the Nation

41

CHAPTER THREE

“That 'Ere Ingian's One of Us!": Richardson Rewrites the Burkean Savage

65

CHAPTER FOUR

“We Have to Walk on the Ground”: Constitutive Rhetoric in the Courtroom Addresses of Louis Riel (1844–1885)

89

CONTENTS

CHAPTER FIVE

“We Indians Own These Lands”: Performance, Authenticity,
Disidentification, and E. Pauline Johnson / Tekahionwake
(1861–1913)

119

CHAPTER SIX

“They Taught Me Much”: Imposture, Animism, Ecosystem, and
Archibald Belaney / Grey Owl (1888–1938)

147

CHAPTER SEVEN

“They Never Even Sent Us a Letter”: Harry Robinson
(1900–1990) on Literacy and Land

181

(In)Conclusion, or Attawapiskat v. #Ottawapiskat

211

NOTES 227

WORKS CITED 259

INDEX 297