

Contents

Introduction: Self-Making and Freedom of Speech, 3

I OUTCASTS OF THE UNIVERSE

1. Hawthorne's "Wakefield" and the Art of Self-Possession, 13
2. Melville: Knowing Bartleby, 27

II MASTERS AND SLAVES

3. Stowe: Ghosting in Uncle Tom's Cabin, 47
4. Twain: The Twinning Principle in Puddn'head Wilson, 65

III THE VILLAGE MODERNISTS

5. Anderson: The Play of Winesburg, Ohio, 91
6. Flannery O'Connor and the Art of Displacement, 108

IV THE AMERICAN MODERNISTS AND FREEDOM OF SPEECH

7. Fitzgerald's Great Gatsby: Fiction as Greatness, 131
8. Faulkner's As I Lay Dying: The Voice from the Coffin, 148
9. Faulkner: Fusion and Confusion in Light in August, 170
10. Hemingway's Garden of Eden: The Final Combat Zone, 189

V THE AMERICAN POSTMODERNISTS AND FREEDOM OF SPEECH

11. John Hawkes, Skin Trader, 213
12. Robert Coover: Fiction as Fission, 235
13. Dis-Membering and Re-Membering in Toni Morrison's Beloved, 265
14. Don DeLillo: Rendering the Words of the Tribe, 288

Conclusion, 317

Notes, 321

Index, 343