

Contents

1	Introduction: Objective and Scope of this Study	1
2	New Atheism and Ian McEwan	5
2.1	New Atheism: Discourses, Philosophical Positions and Politics	5
2.2	Ian McEwan's Oeuvre and New Atheism: Four Thematic Trajectories	27
2.3	The 'Implied Worldview' of a Text: Identifying Religious Signifiers in an Atheist's Work	34
3	On the Way to New Atheism: Irritation and/of Postmodern Arbitrariness	41
3.1	Seminal Stories: Religion and Atheism in "Solid Geometry" and "Psychopolis" ..	41
3.2	Father Is Dead: Biblical and Freudian Motifs in The Cement Garden	55
3.3	Framing Victim and Offender in Biblical Terms: The Comfort of Strangers	64
4	New Horizons and the Emergence of New Atheist Concerns	76
4.1	The Presence of Absence: Science and Transcendence in The Child in Time	76
4.2	The Human Body as the Measure of Metaphysics: Historiography and Neo-Darwinism in The Innocent	87
4.3	"Commissar and Yogi": Science and Religion as Competing Master-Narratives in Black Dogs	98
5	Preparing and Supporting New Atheism	108
5.1	The Two-Culture Debate Extended: Neo-Darwinism, Literature and Religious Madness in Enduring Love	108
5.2	Amsterdam : Ethical and Artistic Failure in Secular, Post-Thatcherite Britain....	117
5.3	Getting into the Heads of Other People: Atheism and Neo-Darwinism in Atonement	124
5.4	"Rather Shop than Pray": Neo-Conservatism and New Atheism in Saturday ...	134
6	New Atheism Reworked or the Rise of New Concerns?	146
6.1	"Kindness, That's the Big One": Cultural Determinism and Love Ethics in On Chesil Beach	146
6.2	Solar : The Two-Culture Debate in a Post-Religious World	155
6.3	Sweet Tooth : A Declaration of Love for Literature as a Means of Secular Transcendence	165
7	Research Results and Further Considerations	176
8	Bibliography	182
8.1	Primary Literature	182
8.2	Interviews with Ian McEwan	184
8.3	Secondary Literature	184