Contents

Acknowledgments 7

Introduction 11
Navigating the Delusive Spaces of Media and Technology

Part I
Archaeologies of the Machine

Archaeology 38
Discourse Analysis, Media Archaeology, the Megamachine, Libidinal Mechanics

Cosmic Machine 74
Assessing the Clockwork Metaphor of the Heavens

Time Machine 96
On Machines for Measuring Time and Machines for Travelling in Time

Body Machine / Machine Body 117
Excess of the Libidinal Machine

War Machine 149
The Formation of the Modern War Machine and the Disciplined Machine Body

Libidinal Machines / Imaginary Media 165
On Machines that Mediate Impossible Desires

Notes 183

Part II
Politics and Uses

The Post-Governmental Condition 190
Politics beyond the Government

The Intensification of Time 214
Speed, Ubiquity and the Vision Machine

The Politics of Cultural Memory 228
Identity, Belonging and Necessity

'freedom' 242
Cyberspace Independence and Contemporary Gnosticism

Constructing the Digital Commons 259
A Venture into Hybridization

Mindful Disconnection 272
Counterpowering the Panopticon from the Inside

The Pleasure of the Medium 277
Jouissance and the Excess of Writing

The Society of the Unspectacular 285
Leaving Debord Behind

Virtual Life 288
Can There Be Such a Thing as 'Community' in the Infosphere?

Media without an Audience 294
Networked Presence and Radical Privatisation

Mediate YourSelf! 304
Create Your Own Solutions

Notes 313

Part III
Questioning the Unrepresentable

The Unrepresentable 318
Infinity, Rupture and the Secret

Transfiguration of the Avant-Garde 328
The Negative Dialectics of the Net

A Sublime Encounter 348
Observations on Art and Terrorism

The Sublime Unrepresentability of War 372
Silence of the Disaster

Notes 383

Bibliography 385