CONTENTS

Aı	knowledgments	ix
	RT I nould everything be for sale?	1
1	Are there some things money should not buy?	3
2	If you may do it for free, you may do it for money	10
3	What the commodification debate is and is not about	19
4	It's the how, not the what	29
PART II Do markets signal disrespect?		43
5	Semiotic objections	45
6	The mere commodity objection	51
7	The wrong signal and wrong currency objections	60
8	Objections: semiotic essentialism and minding our manners	75

PART III Do markets corrupt?		85
9	The corruption objection	87
10	How to make a sound corruption objection	90
11	The selfishness objection	96
12	The crowding out objection	104
13	The immoral preference objection	120
14	The low quality objection	128
15	The civics objection	139
PA
Ex	ploitation, harm to self, and misallocation	145
16	Essential and incidental objections	147
17	Line up for expensive equality!	158
18	Baby buying	169
19	Vote selling	183
PART V Debunking intuitions 195
20	Anti-market attitudes are resilient	197
21	Where do anti-market attitudes come from?	201
22	The pseudo-morality of disgust	209
23	Postscript	224
Bibliography Index		228 236