

Contents

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Acknowledgments   | xi  |
| Introduction:Coming to Terms with the Past:Trial, Therapy, and the Theater                 | I          |
| 1 Arendt's Laughter:Theatricality, Pedagogy, and Comedyin Eichmann in Jerusalem     | 15         |
| 2 Founding a Nation, Healing a Wound:On Crimes against Humanity                                | 46         |
| 3 A Cry for Justice:Charlotte Delbo's Auschwitz and Afterand Days and Memory | 63         |
| 4 Brecht on Trial:The Courtroom, the Theater,and The Measures Taken                 | 91         |
| Conclusion:Judging, Staging, and Working Through   | 133        |
| Notes   | 143 |
| Bibliography  | 185 |
| Index   | 201 |
| Cultural Memory in the Present  | 213 |