

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

1. Introduction

*Jewish American Fiction and the Multicultural Curriculum;
or, What Is Contemporary Jewish American Fiction?* 1

2. What Drives Philip Roth? 22

3. The (Mischievous) Theological Imagination of Melvin Jules Bukiet 40

4. Thane Rosenbaum's Elijah Visible

Jewish American Fiction, the Holocaust, and the Double Bind of the Second-Generation Witness 58

5. Rebecca Goldstein's Feminist/Jewish Problem 82

6. Toward an Ethical (Re)Definition of Jewish Literature

The Fiction of Robert Cohen; or, It's American, but Is It Jewish? 102

7. The Jewish American Writer, Emergent Israel, and Allegra Goodman's The Family Markowitz 121

8. Steve Stern's Magical Fiction of Tikkun 141

9. Under the Influence

The Schlemiel Revisited in Gerald Shapiro's From Hunger 160

10. Conclusion

*Toward a New Century of Jewish American Fiction—
Emergent Voices, Emergent Visions* 176

A Selected Reading List of Contemporary Jewish American Fiction 191

Works Cited 195

Index 205