

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	7
Paul M. Curtis (Moncton)
Pun and Punishment: Byron's Thinking Through Paronomasia	9
Peter Cochran (Glasgow)
Foscolo and Byron: Dei Sepolcri, Childe Harold IV, and Don Juan	18
Anne Barton (Cambridge)
John Clare Reads Lord Byron	38
Berhard Reitz (Mainz)
Byron's Praise of Sheridan	60
May Maalouf (Lebanon)
Byron's Subversive Appropriation of Shakespeare: Manfred and Hamlet	68
Bernard Beatty (Liverpool)
Byron and the Unsecular Scriptures	86
Naji B. Oueijan (Lebanon)
Byron's Eastern Bride	100
James Soderholm (Waco)
A Scottish Bard and his English Reviewers: Byron and Wordsworth on the Poetry of Robert Burns	109

James Tetreault (New York) Byron, Shelley, and Other Romanticists: Readers or Mis-readers of the "Pilgrim Gone Astray"?	118
John Clubbe (Lexington) Dramatic Hits: Napoleon and Shakespeare in Byron's 1813-1814 Journal	136
Frank Erik Pointner (Duisburg) "The mind is coloured by thy every hue": Byron's Wordsworthian Phase	159
Kevin L. Cope (Baton Rouge) Byron and the Permanent Originality of Uninformative Advice, or, Recipes for a Kanamit	175
Peter Cochran (Glasgow) Byron, Sappho ... and Castlereagh	190