

Contents

Preface	viii
Acknowledgements	xii
Abbreviations	xiii
Notes on the Contributors	xiv
1 Unwrapping Crusoe: Retrospective and Prospective Views Louis James	1
I TEXT and CONTEXT
2 Robinson Crusoe's Eighteenth-Century Contexts Alan Downie	13
3 Crusoe's Women: Or, the Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time Ian A. Bell	28
4 Crusoe, Cannibalism and Empire Markman Ellis	45
5 Crusoe in the South Seas: Beachcombers, Missionaries and the Myth of the Castaway Vanessa Smith	62
6 Serving God or Mammon? Echoes from Hayy Ibn Yaqzan and Sinbad the Sailor in Robinson Crusoe Samar Attar	78
7 Narcissus and Friday: From Classical to Anthropological Myth Lieve Spaas	98

- 8 Caliban, Friday and their Masters 110
Jean-Jacques Hamm

II RESONANCES

- 9 Charles Guilbert de Pixérécourt's Robinson Crusoe
 (1805) 127
Christopher Smith
- 10 Female Castaways 141
Arnold Saxton
- 11 Resisting Robinson Crusoe in Dechanel's Film 148
Sharon Meagher
- 12 The Robinson Myth in Jean-Richard Bloch's Le
Robinson juif 157
Carmen Figuerola

III SUBVERSIONS

- 13 Myth as Microscope: Michel Tournier's Vendredi ou
les limbes du Pacifique 167
Lorna Milne
- 14 'Skilful in the usury of time': Michel Tournier and the Critique of Economism 182
Anthony Purdy
- 15 Vendredi ou les limbes du Pacifique: Tournier,
 Seduction and Paternity 199
Emma Wilson
- 16 'Between me and thee is a great gulf fixed': The Crusoe Presence in Walcott's Early Poetry 210
Stewart Brown
- 17 'With Crusoe the slave and Friday the boss': Derek
 Walcott's Pantomime 225
Bridget Jones

18	The Ulyssean Crusoe and the Quest for Redemption in J. M. Coetzee's Foe and Derek Walcott's Omeros Paula Burnett	239
19	Foe : Metafiction and the Discourse of Power Patrick Corcoran	256
20	Daniel Defoe as Character: Subversion of the Myths of Robinson Crusoe and of the Author Jean-Paul Engélibert	267
IV INTROVERSIONS
21	'In Contemplation of my Deliverance': Robinson Crusoe and Pincher Martin Kevin McCarron	285
22	'Insulaire que tu es. Ile -': Valéry, the Robinson Crusoe of the Mind Brian Stimpson	294
	Postface: Robinson(g) Kolja Mićević	316
	A Japanese Robinson Kunio Tsunekawa	317
	Conclusion	319
	Index	321