

Contents

Preface, ix

Acknowledgments, xi

Annotation and Abbreviations, xv

- CHAPTER 1    The Earlier Life: 1857–1894, 1
- i. 1857–1874: Poland, 1
  - ii. 1874–1878: France, 10
  - iii. 1878–1894: England, 15
  - iv. The Past as Prologue, 24
- CHAPTER 2    Almayer's Folly, 34
- i. Memories: Composition and Sources, 34
  - ii. Models: Exotic Romance, Naturalism, and Flaubert, 41
  - iii. Problems: Language, Narrative Method, and Characterisation, 55
- CHAPTER 3    The Nigger of the "Narcissus", 68
- i. 1895–1897: Becoming an Author, 68
  - ii. The Preface, 76
  - iii. From Memory to Fiction, 88
  - iv. Solidarity in The Nigger of the "Narcissus", 94
  - v. The Affirmations of Retrospect, 120
- CHAPTER 4    Heart of Darkness, 126
- i. 1897–1898: In the Doldrums, 126
  - ii. Sources: The Congo and Kurtz, 135
  - iii. Ideological Perspectives: Kurtz and the Fate of Victorian Progress, 147
  - iv. Critical Perspectives, 168
    - a. Impressionism, 169    b. Symbolism, 180
    - c. Marlow and Henry James, 200
  - v. The Tale, 214
    - a. To the Central Station, 214    b. Marlow and Kurtz, 223
    - c. The Lie and the Darkness, 241
- CHAPTER 5    Lord Jim, 254
- i. 1898–1900: The Pent and Ford, 254
  - ii. Composition and Sources, 259
  - iii. The Narrative Progress and Its Methods, 269
    - a. Marlow's Involvement: Delayed Decoding, Symbolic Deciphering and Thematic Apposition, 270
    - b. Marlow's Inquiry: The Roles of Time and Narrative Impressionism, 286
    - c. Patusan: Progression d'effet and Romantic Distance, 305

- iv. Jim and Marlow, 310
  - a. The Rescue, 311
  - b. At Stein's, 322
  - c. The Friendship, 331
- v. The Ending, 338

Epilogue, 357

Index, 361