

CONTENTS

Preface	page ix
A Note on Editions	xi
1 Literature as History: with some Questions about 'Historical Imagination'	I
2 Dramatist as Jingoist: The Massacre at Paris	20
3 Dramatist as Realist: The Jew of Malta	38
4 Machiavelli and the Crisis of Renaissance Political Consciousness	61
5 Providence and Policy in Richard III	72
6 Providence and History in Elizabethan Thought	110
7 History without Morality: Edward II	121
8 Shakespearian History: Critique of 'Elizabethan Policy'	143
9 Shakespeare's Political Agnosticism: Richard II	158
10 Supernature and Demonism in Elizabethan Thought	194
11 The New Wine and the Old Bottles: Doctor Faustus	205
12 Marlowe and the Calvinist Doctrine of Reprobation	243
13 'An Unknown Fear': The Tragedie of Macbeth	253
14 Macbeth and the Theology of Evil	308
15 Artist and Ethos	317
Appendix A: Barabas and the Historical Jew of Europe	339
Appendix B: A Note on the Authorship of Faustus	352
Notes	355
Index	387