

Contents

Sean O'Casey (photograph by W. Suschitzky)	frontispiece
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction John O'Riordan	I
INTERVIEWS AND RECOLLECTIONS
Portrait of O'Casey as a Young Man R. M. Fox	13
Discovering Sean O'Casey Lady Gregory	16
O'Casey in Dublin Joseph Holloway	19
The Author of Juno : An Informal Talk	21
How a Tenement Dweller Studied the Stage	23
Too Shy to See his Own Play: Sean O'Casey's First Night in London	25
Dramatist who was On the Dole	26
'Paycock' in London	27
Fame at Last	28
London at his Feet	29
From Starvation to Success Constance Vaughan	30
Sean O'Casey: A Worker Dramatist R. M. Fox	32
O'Casey and the Abbey Eileen Crowe	35
Forsaking Ireland: The Beginnings of Exile	36
Sean O'Casey; or, A Rough Diamond Beverley Nichols	37
London Apprentice Rupert Croft-Cooke	40
'Shakespeare Was My Education': Interview with the Author of The Silver Tassie George Walter Bishop	42
Remembrance of Things Past: On Meeting Sean O'Casey Leslie Rees	45

O'Casey in Buckinghamshire	J. L. Hodson	53
American Interlude: O'Casey in New York	Bosley Crowther	59
To Sean O'Casey, With Love	Lillian Gish	63
Playwright and Box Office	Maurice Browne	65
Playwright in Exile	Ria Mooney	70
Red Roses for Sean	Eileen O'Casey	73
Two Glimpses of O'Casey	Dom Wulstan Phillipson, O.S.B.	75
Uninvited Guest	Allan Chappelow	77
The Rebel who Never Retired	Laurence Thompson	79
Visiting Sean O'Casey in Devon	Boris Izakov	83
Talking to Sean O'Casey on American Television	Robert Emmett Ginna	84
'It Was Fun,' said Sean O'Casey	Joseph Stein	86
Talk with a Titan	Paul Shyre	89
O'Casey Out to Make them Laugh	Donal Foley	90
O'Casey Says	Don Ross	91
Au Revoir to the Abbey Theatre	Barry Fitzgerald	95
An Evening with Sean O'Casey	Saros Cowasjee	98
The Exile	W. J. Weatherby	103
O'Casey Did Not Celebrate 80th Birthday		107
Drumming with Father Ned	David Phethean	108
O'Casey Plays Not for TV	Aidan Hennigan	115
The Cross and the Shamrock	Hugh Webster	116
O'Casey and Ireland		123
O'Casey and the Critic	Niall Carroll	124
The Sting and the Twinkle	W. J. Weatherby	127
The Green Crow in Devon	Brooks Atkinson	131
Tea with Sean	John O'Riordan	133
A Great 'Hurrah' for Life	Jack Levett	135
A Modest Proposal	Angus Drummond	137
'Abbey has been Deteriorating for Years,' says Sean O'Casey	John Howard	138
O'Casey and the Press	Aidan Hennigan	140

CONTENTS

ix

Tea and Memories and Songs at a Last Fond Visit Gjon Mili	142
Towards the End David Krause	145
Last Thoughts from O'Casey ' Mandrake '	165
Sean O'Casey, Saint and Devil Gerard Fay	166
The Final Curtain Brooks Atkinson	168

APPENDIXES

A O'Casey: For All his Curses, a Yea-Sayer Harold Clurman	171
B Additional Bibliography	174
Index	176