

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE	11
ABBREVIATIONS	13
INTRODUCTION	17
I. LACEDAEMON	19
1. History, Myth, and Propaganda	19
Literary Sources for Spartan History 20 — Primary Sources: Eponymic Lists, Documents, Inscriptions, Poetry 23 — Myth and History 26
2. The Return of the Heraclids	28
Tyrtaeus 28 — Pindar 28 — Herodotus 29 — Isocrates 30 — Plato 32 — Ephorus 33 — Origin and Tendency 33 — The Dorian Migration 35
3. The Birth of Sparta	36
The Conquest of Laconia 36 — Earliest Sparta 37 — Spartiates, Perioeci, and Helots 38
4. The City of Lovely Choirs	39
Archaic Sparta 39 — Epic and Lyric 40 — Terpander and Thaletas 41 — Spartan Music 42 — Alcman 43 — The Great Change 43
5. Messenia and Tyrtaeus	44
Spartan Colonies: Thera and Tarent 44 — The Messenian Wars 45 — Tyrtaeus 45
6. The Great Rhetra	51
Tyrtaeus' "Eunomia" 51 — The Great Rhetra: Text and Interpretation 52 — The Two Versions of the "Eunomia" 56 — The Date of the Rhetra 58 — The Rhetra an Oracle 60
7. From Theopompus to Chilo	61
Theopompus and Polydorus 61 — Foreign Peace-makers and Visitors 61 Internal Crises 62 — Monarchy, Aristocracy, and Democracy 63 — Aristodemus' Dictum 63 — The Ephorate: Origin and Development 64 — Chilo 66 — Othryades 67 — Tegea and the Change in Foreign Policy 67 — The Intensification of the Agoge 68 — The Decline of Royal Power 69 — Apollo and Pasiphae 69
8. Lycurgus	70
Hellanicus 70 — Herodotus 70 — Later Authors 72 — Who was Lycurgus? 73
9. Kosmos and Eunomia	73
"Kosmos" 73 — "Eunomia" 73 — Lycurgan Sparta 74 — Lycurgus as a Revolutionary 76 — Behind the Mask of Lycurgus 77
10. The Leader of Hellas	78
The Peloponnesian League 78 — Sparta versus Tyrants and Democrats 78 — "Eunomia" and "Prostasia" 79 — Chilo and the Seven Sages 80

11. Herodotus and the Persian War	81
Pindar 81 — Aeschylus 81 — Herodotus Dorian and Ionian 81 — Greeks and Barbarians 82 — Herodotus and Athens 83 — Herodotus and Spartan History 87 — Cleomenes I 89 — Herodotus between Sparta and Athens 91 — Sperthias and Bulis 92 — Damaratus 93 — Marathon, Artemisium, and Salamis 96 — Thermopylae 96 — Plataea 100 — Pausanias 101 — Herodotus' Political Sympathies 103 — Herodotus and the Spartan State 104 — Herodotus and the Spartan Legend 105 — Leonidas and Thermopylae 105 — Simonides' Dirge 106
II. SPARTA AND ATHENS	108
1. From Thermopylae to Leuctra	108
The Decline of Sparta 108 — The Lack of Manpower 109 — Internal Unrest 109 — The Struggle with Athens 109 — The Crises after the Victory 110 — The Appeal to Lycurgus 110 — Thibron 110 — Lysander 110 — Pausanias and the Ephorate 110 — Agesilaus and "The King's Peace" 112 — The Collapse 112
2. Eunomia and Isonomia	112
The Rise of Athens 112 — Athenian Isonomia versus Spartan Eunomia 113
3. Attic Tragedy	114
Aeschylus and Sophocles 115 — Euripides 115 — Heraclidae 116 — Cressphontes and Temenos 117 — Andromache 117 — Suppliants 120 — Ion, Hecuba, Troades 120 — Helen, Iphigenia in Aulis, Orestes 121 — Euripides and Sparta 122
4. Attic Comedy	122
Eupolis et alii 123 — Aristophanes versus Sparta 123 — Lysistrata 124 — Aristophanes a "Laconist"? 126
5. Thucydides	127
Thucydides the Aristocrat 127 — Praise of Sparta 128 — Archidamus 128 — Brasidas 128 — Criticism of Sparta 130 — Contradiction or Change? 131 — Thucydides' Sources 132 — The Dualism Athens — Sparta 132 — The Pentecontaetia 133 — Themistocles and Sparta 134 — Themistocles and Pausanias 134 — The "Contest of Words" in Sparta 432 B. C. 136 — The Corinthians 136 — The Athenians 137 — Archidamus 138 — Sthenelaidas 139 — Pericles' Funeral Speech 140 — The Melian Dialogue 141 — Athenian Imperialism 142 — Sparta as the Liberator of Greece 142 — Melos, Athens, and Sparta 143 — Platon and Sparta 144 — Thucydides: Moral and Politics 146 — Pylos 147 — Thucydides and Sparta 148
6. Greek Aristocrats and Attic Oligarchs	148
The Athenian Empire and its Allies 148 — Athens a Tyrant State 149 — "Patrios Politeia" 149 — Democracy versus Oligarchy 149 — Theognis 150 — Pindar and Sparta 150 — Tribal Feelings 152 — The Athenian Oligarchs 153 — "The State of the Athenians" 154 — Aristides 154 — Cimon 155 — Athenian Laconists 155 — Critias 156 — The Athenian Oligarchs and the Spartan Legend 158

7. Xenophon	159
The Works of Xenophon 159 — His Life 160 — "The State of the Laedae- monians" 161 — Lycurgus 162 — Eugenics 163 — Education 163 — Pac- derasty 164 — Discipline, Community, and Poverty 164 — Law-abiding- ness 165 — Sparta versus Athens 165 — Sparta as a School of Virtue 166 Date and Tendency 167 — Addition and Palinode 168 — Hellenica: its La- conism 169 — Its Criticism of Sparta 172 — Xenophon and Leuctra 173 — Cooperation between Athens and Sparta 179 — Agesilaus 175 — Xe- nophon's Laconism 176 — Cyropaedia 177 — Sparta in the Cyropaedia 178 — Lycurgus' Sparta and Cyrus' Persia 178
8. Isocrates	179
Isocrates and Xenophon 179 — Isocrates and Athens 180 — Busiris 181 — Panegyricus 182 — Sparta and Athens 183 — Sparta's Evil Deeds 184 — Sparta a Warning for Athens 185 — Sparta's Desperate Situation 186 — Panathenaicus 187 — Parallels between Athenian and Spartan History 188 — Lycurgus and Athens 191 — Sparta's Betrayal of Greece 191 — The Origin of Sparta 192 — The Disciple's Defence of Sparta and Isocrates' Answer 193 — Sparta's Virtues Disguised Vices 193 — Isocrates' Misgiv- ings and the Disciple's Explanation 194 — Praise of Sparta 195 — The Riddle of the Panathenaicus 196 — Archidamus 197 — Sparta's Right to Messenia 198 — The Memory of the Forefathers 198 — Death with Honour 199 — Isocrates' Conservatism 200 — Isocrates and the Spartan Constitu- tion 201 — Isocrates as a Laconist 202 — Lysias 202 — Andocides 203 — Demosthenes 203 — Aeschines 204 — Lycurgus the Orator 204 — Phocion 206
9. Ephorus and Historiography	206
Rhetoric and History 206 — Ephorus 208 — Ephorus' View of Spartan History 209 — The Return of the Heraclidae 210 — The Messenian Wars 210 — Lycurgus 210 — Ephorus and Pausanias 212 — Sparta and Crete 214 — The Praise of Lycurgus 215 — Sparta after Lycurgus 215 — The Persian Wars 215 — Ctesias 216 — Leonidas at Thermopyle 216 — Salamis at Thermopyle 216 — Salamis and Platea 218 — The Pentecontaetia 218 — Pausanias 218 — The Peloponnesian War 219 — Spartan Hegemony 220 — Lysander and Agesilaus 221 — Sparta and Thebes 221 — Ephorus and Sparta 222 — Theopompus 222 — His Oligarchism 223 — Theopom- pus and Sparta 225 — Theopompus and Philip of Macedonia 225 — Cal- listhenes 225 — Greece in the Mirror of the Historians 226
III. SPARTA AND THE IDEAL STATE	228
1. The Earliest Philosophers	228
Sparta and Philosophy 228 — The Question of the Ideal State 228 — The First Political Thinkers 229 — The Seven Sages 229 — The Lycurgan Reform 230 — Pythagoras 230 — The Traditional Account of Pythagorean Politics 230 — Modern Theories 231 — The Oldest Sources 232 — Di- cacarchus, Aristoxenus, and Timaeus 232 — Our Ignorance 233
2. The Sophists	233
What were the Sophists? 233 — Their Political Opinions and Works 235 — The Mixed Constitution 236 — The Sophists and Democracy 236 —

The Sophists and Sparta 237 — Timotheus 237 — Hippias 238 — The Sophists and the Spartan Legend 239 — Moralistic Individualism and Romantic Egalitarianism 240 — Sparta and The Mixed Constitution 241 — Lycurgus the Reformer 241 — Hippodamus and Phaleas 241
3. Socrates	241
Socrates' "Laconism" in Aristophanes 242 — Socrates as a Critic of Democracy in Plato and Xenophon 242 — The Trial of Socrates 242 — Socrates and Sparta 243
4. Plato	244
Plato and Athens 244 — Plato and the Thirty Tyrants 246 — Plato and Socrates 246 — Plato and the Political Discussion 247 — Breach with Athens 248 — Plato and Syracuse 248 — Plato and Political Reality 249 — Eternal Ideal State and Corruptible Earthly State 249 — Plato and the Pythagoreans 250 — Archytas 250 — Plato and Music 250 — Damon 251 — Dorianism 251 — Sparta as Plato's Ideal State 252 — Praise of Sparta 252 — The Protagoras 252 — Plato and Laconism 254 — Sparta and Callipolis 254 — Sparta and the State of the Laws 255 — The Mixed Constitution 256 — The Development of the Spartan State 257 — The State of the Laws 260 — The Decline of Callipolis 263 — Sparta as a "Timocracy" 264 — The Statesman 266 — The Laws and Athens 268 — Panhellenism 268 — Criticism of Sparta in the Laws 269 — Paederasty 269 — Militarism 271 — Women 272 — Helots 272 — Sparta no Callipolis 273 — Affinities between them 274 — Plato between Athens and Sparta 275
5. The Academy	276
The Academy and Politics 276 — Heraclides Ponticus 276 — Alcibiades Major 277 — Alcibiades Minor 279
6. Aristotle	279
"The State of the Lacedaemonians" 280 — Attempt at Reconstruction 281 — Sources 284 — Influence 286 — Aristotle's Writings 287 — The Politics 288 — Aristotle's Earlier Life 288 — Aristotle and Macedony 289 — Idealism and Empiricism 291 — Aristotle and Plato 291 — Aristotle's Ideal State 292 — Echoes Plato's Criticism of Sparta 292 — Helots 292 — Women 293 — The Land Question and The Lack of Man — Power 293 — Lycurgus Refuted by Reality 294 — Sparta and Crete 296 — Sparta and the Mixed Constitutions 296 — Criticism of Spartan State Institutions 297 — Praise of Sparta 298 — Aristotle on Democracy and Oligarchy 299 — Sparta a Middle Course 300 — Spartan State Education 301 — Spartan State Absolutism 302 — Aristotle's Contradictions 303 — Aristotle and the Legend of Sparta 304
7. The Peripatetics	304
The Peripatetics and Politics 304 — Theophrastus 305 — Dicaearchus 306 — Aristoxenus 307 — The Peripatetics and Historiography 307 — The Peripatetics and Sparta 308	