

CONTENTS

	PAGE
Foreword	xiii
Preface	1
 Part One:
Baibars's Early Life	3
I The Bahri Regiment	3
II His Childhood and Enslavement	6
III In the Service of Al-Ṣāliḥ	7
IV The Death of Al-Ṣāliḥ	7
 Part Two:
The Struggle for Power	9
I Against Tūrān-Shāh	9
II Against Aibak	10
III Baibars in Exile	13
IV Saif Al-Dīn Quṭuz	15
V Baibars's Activities in Syria	16
VI Reconciliation with Quṭuz	18
VII Battle of 'Ain Jālūt (Spring of Goliath)	20
 Part Three:
Baibars as Sultan	24
I The Attainment of Sovereignty	24
II Internal Policy and Methods	27
(i) Measures against Al-Ḥalabī	28
(ii) Measures against the 'Azīzīs and Naṣirīs	29
(iii) Measures against Al-Malik Al-Mughith	31
(iv) The Abbasi Caliphate in Egypt	34
(v) Aspects of Baibars's Method of Control	36
1. Seriousness	37
2. Severity	37
3. Secrecy	38
4. Espionage	39
5. The Barid	42

III External Policy and Method	43
(i) His Relations with the Rulers of the Golden Horde	43
1. Hostility between Bereke and the Ilkhān of Persia	43
2. Baibars's First Contact with Bereke	44
3. Bereke's First Reaction	45
4. Bereke's First Diplomatic Mission	45
5. Bereke's First Mission	46
6. Solidarity of Friendship	47
7. Friendly Relations with Bereke's Successor	49
8. Contact with other Officials of the Golden Horde	49
9. Further Contact with Mangūtimur	50
(ii) His Relations with the Ilkhāns of Persia	51
1. Preoccupations of the Ilkhāns of Persia	52
2. Mongol Attack on Syria	52
3. Baibars's Activities in Iraq and Persia	53
4. The Mongol Reaction	54
5. Abaghā's Succession	55
6. Fresh Mongol Danger	56
7. Further Struggle for Abaghā	56
8. Negotiations for Peace	57
9. A Mongol Hostile Action	60
10. Mongol Coalition with the Franks	60
11. Baibars's Reaction	61
12. Mongol Attack	61
13. Negotiations with the Mongols	62
14. Hostility Resumed	64
15. Further Mongol Activities	65
16. Negotiations between the Perwāneh and Baibars	67
17. Attack on Cilicia	67
18. Mongol Siege of Al-Bīra	68
19. Further Negotiations between Baibars and the Perwāneh	69
20. Saljūq Amīrs Correspondence and Rising	70
21. The Perwāneh's Position at this Juncture	71
22. Baibars's Anatolian Expedition	71
Immediate Reasons	71

Precautionary Measures	72
Baibars leaves Syria	72
The Battle of Abulustain	73
Baibars's Advance towards Kayseri	73
The Relations between Baibars and the Perwāneh .	74
Withdrawal from Anatolia	75
(iii) His Relations with the Franks	77
1. Early Military Measures and Treaties	78
2. Further Raids and Treaties	78
3. Attack on Bohemond's Territory	79
4. The Plan for the Year 661/1262-3	80
5. Attack on Acre	80
6. Syrian Affairs for the Rest of the Year	82
7. A Short Truce	82
8. Raids on 'Athlith and Caesarea	83
9. The First Major Campaign	83
Capture of Caesarea	84
Capture of Haifa	86
Attack against 'Athlith	86
Capture of Arsuf	87
A Battle with Bohemond	88
10. The Second Major Campaign	88
Fall of Şafad and other Raids	88
Şafad as a Muslim Base	91
Expedition against Sis	92
11. Baibars's Activities in Syria in 665/1266-7	93
12. The Third Major Campaign	96
Fall of Jaffa	96
Capture of Şhaqīf Arnūn	97
Fall of Antioch	99
Result of Antioch's Fall	100
13. Negotiations with Hugh III	102
14. Activities during 667/1268-9	103
15. Fresh Frankish Danger	105
King of Aragon's Followers in Syria	105
Battle with the Franks	106
King Louis' Crusade	107
16. Fourth Major Campaign and other Activities .	109
Attack on Tripoli	109
Capture of Şafītha	109

Agreement with the Templars and Hospitallers ...	110
Conquest of Ḥiṣn ‘Akkār	110
Peace with Bohemond	110
Prince Edward’s Crusade	111
Capture of Al-Qurain	112
Attempt to attack Cyprus	112
A Treaty with Tyre	113
17. Baibars’s Return to Egypt	113
18. Departure for Syria	113
19. Mongol Attack	114
20. Frankish Attack	114
21. The Reaction of Baibars	115
22. Peace with Acre	115
23. Attempt to assassinate Prince Edward	115
24. The Capture of Al-Quṣair	116
25. Dispute over Al-Ladhiqīya and Beirut	116
(iv) His Relations with the Isma‘īlīs	118
1. Their Position at the Time of Baibars’s Succession	120
2. First Contact with them	121
3. His Clash with them	121
4. Early Measures against them	123
5. Payment of Tribute to Baibars	124
6. Final Reduction of their Castles	125
(v) His Relations with Michael VIII Palaeologus	127
1. Michael’s Succession to the Throne	127
2. Mutual Interest	128
3. Early Contacts	129
4. Relations Strained	129
5. Later Relations	132
(vi) His Relations with Nubia	133
1. The Country of Nubia	133
2. Early Muslim Contacts with Nubia	134
3. The Beja Tribes	135
4. Muslim Contact with Beja	136
5. Baibars’s Contacts with Nubia	137
6. Safety of Trade Routes	138
7. The Arabs of Upper Egypt	138
8. The Rulers of Sawākin and Dahlak	139

9. Subjugation of Nubia	140
-------------------------------	-----

Part Four:

The Sources	143
Abbreviations	143
I Biographies and Contemporary Chronicles	144
(i) Muḥyī Al-Dīn Ibn ‘Abd Al-Zāhir	144
1. His Writing	146
2. His Books	147
3. His Education	147
4. Description of the Text.....	148
5. Gaps	149
6. Original or Abridgement?	149
7. Dating	152
8. Method of Composition.....	152
9. His Sources.....	153
10. Oral Sources	154
11. Written Sources	155
12. Language and Style	156
13. Historical Value.....	158
Falsifications	159
Omissions	160
Generalisations	161
Patronage	162
14. Its Worth to Mamlūk Historians.....	163
(ii) Abū Shāma	166
(iii) Ibn Wāṣil.....	167
(iv) Ibn Shaddād	168
Tārīkh Al-Malik Al-Zāhir	170
(v) Ibn Al-‘Ibrī (Bar Hebraeus).....	171
II Coins and Inscriptions.....	173
III Fourteenth and Fifteenth Century Historians.....	175
(i) Shāfi‘ Ibn ‘Alī	175
(ii) Baibars Al-Duwaidār	179
(iii) Al-Yūnīnī	180
(iv) Nuwairī	180
(v) Abu‘ l-Fida’	181
(vi) Al-Dhahabī	182
(vii) Mufaḍḍal Ibn Abī’ l-Faḍa’ il	183
(viii) Ibn Khaldūn	183

(ix) Ibn Al-Furāt.....	185
(x) Al-Maqrīzī	186
(xi) Al-‘Ainī.....	187
(xii) Ibn Taghrībirdī	189
Bibliography 1	191
Bibliography 2	195
Maps of Syria	199
Index	205