

Table of contents

Introduction: From logos to dialogue Ulrike M. Lüdtke	VII
Part I. Theory
The developmental psychology and neuropsychology of emotion in language Colwyn Trevarthen	3
Primal emotions and cultural evolution of language: Primal affects empower words Jaak Panksepp	27
Emotion on board Jacqueline Nadel and Bora Han	49
The origins of emotion and language from the perspective of developmental neuropsychology Iain McGilchrist	69
Language and emotion in Merleau-Ponty Pauline von Bonsdorff	99
Enkinaesthetic polyphony: The underpinning for first-order languaging Susan A. J. Stuart and Paul J. Thibault	113
Emotion in language Gisela Klann-Delius	135
Language and emotion: The cognitive linguistic perspective Monika Schwarz-Friesel	157
Prosodic clustering in speech: From emotional to semantic processes Anne Lacheret-Dujour	175
Embodied language and the process of language learning and teaching Giovanni Buccino and Marco Mezzadri	191

Part II. Research

Research on the relationship between language and emotion: A descriptive overview	211
Ulrike M. Lüdtke and Chantal Polzin
Word valence and its effects	241
Ad Foolen
The occurrence of idioms in the emotion lexicon of children	257
Aivars Glaznieks
“Without language, everything is chaos and confusion...” Corporal-emotional linguistic experience and the linguistic repertoire	273
Brigitta Busch
Giving horror a name: Verbal manifestations of despair, fear and anxiety in texts of Holocaust victims and survivors	289
Monika Schwarz-Friesel
Mediated emotions: Emotivity in the age of information and communication technologies	305
Heike Ortner
Silences as a linguistic strategy: Remarks on the role of the unsaid in romantic relationships on the internet	325
Konstanze Marx
Part III. Application
Gradients of plasticity: Language and emotion in children with unilateral perinatal stroke	343
Lara Polse, Philip Lai and Judy Reilly
Mood, aphasia, and affective language comprehension	367
Martina Hielscher-Fastabend
What words can't tell: Emotion and connection between “borderline” mothers and infants	399
Maya Gratier, Emmanuel Devouche, Sara Dominguez and Gisèle Apter
Affective and internal state language in high-functioning autism	421
Judith Levy and Christina Kauschke
Epilogue: Emotion in language can overcome exclusion from meaning	445
Bodo Frank and Colwyn Trevarthen
Index	453