

Contents

Preface . . . . .	7
List of Abbreviations . . . . .	11
Note on Quotations . . . . .	11
List of Illustrations . . . . .	12
1 Introduction . . . . .	13
1.1 Thematic Concerns, Theoretical Implications, Research Interests . . . . .	13
1.2 Tensions, Pretensions, Attitudes: A Critical Survey of Banville Scholarship . . . . .	18
2 Authority and Authorship: Theoretical Considerations . . . . .	28
2.1 Authority and Symbolic Action . . . . .	28
2.2 'The Noble Title of an Author': Perspectives on the Authorial Imaginary in Modernity . . . . .	37
2.3 The Rhetoric of Disappearance: Absenteeism of the Subject and Crisis of Legitimacy . . . . .	46
2.4 'Spectral' Authorship: Reconfiguring a Cultural Reserve . . . . .	59
3 Surviving the Anxiety of Influence: Banville's Early Writings . . . . .	70
3.1 Various Traditions: Coming to Terms with 'Irishness' and the 'Influence' of Joyce and Beckett . . . . .	70
3.2 'Displaced Persons': Long Lankin and Modernist Fragmentation . . . . .	76
3.3 'Art is, after All, Only Mimicry': Nightspawn and Authorial Narcissism . . . . .	83
3.4 'Fractured Vision': Memory and Representation in Birchwood . . . . .	90
4 Fabrications of Order: The Tetralogy . . . . .	101
4.1 Science/Fiction: Introductory Perspectives on Banville's Tetralogy . . . . .	102
Science and Literature: Elective Affinities or Strange Encounters? . . . . .	102
Science and Symbolic Mediation: 'Toward a Supreme Fiction' . . . . .	111

4.2	'An Engine which Destroys Itself: Doctor Copernicus . . . . .	125
	The Recluse and the Revolution: Copernicus in History and (Other) Fiction . . . .	126
	'All that Could Be Said Was the Saying' . . . . .	133
4.3	Kepler: Cosmic Harmony, Earthly Disorder . . . . .	150
	Mannerist Cosmology: From Kepler to Kepler . . . . .	150
	Narrating the Ellipse . . . . .	155
	'Give this World's Praise to the Angel': Perfection and its Limits . . . . .	165
4.4	The Newton Letter: Crisis, Contingency, Irony . . . . .	168
	Crisis: Newton and the Letter . . . . .	168
	Contingency: Goethe in the Big House . . . . .	177
	Irony: Heisenberg into Literature . . . . .	180
4.5	Mefisto: Admitting the Chaos . . . . .	186
4.6	Reality and Fiction in the Tetralogy . . . . .	199
5	Identifiction: The Trilogy and Beyond . . . . .	205
5.1	Before the Law: The Book of Evidence . . . . .	206
5.2	Ghosts: Fictions of the Self . . . . .	218
5.3	Athena: Metamorphoses of Desire . . . . .	227
5.4	Author(is)ing the Self: Ethics and Aesthetics in the Trilogy . . . . .	237
5.5	'Have I Any Authenticity at All?' The Untouchable . . . . .	243
6	Stable Instability: Summary and Outlook . . . . .	247
6.1	Intertextuality and the "New Synthesis" . . . . .	247
6.2	Disparities: From Science to Art . . . . .	250
6.3	Imagining: Beyond Modernity and the Postmodern . . . . .	253
	Bibliography . . . . .	258
	Index . . . . .	277