

Contents

List of Illustrations	xi
List of Abbreviations	xii
Introduction	1
Why compare France and Italy?	4
What is commemoration?	12
1. Divided Memories in Cold War France	25
The persecution of Jews during the war	25
Post-war silences	31
Commemorations	43
Rethinking the war	52
2. Divided Memories in Cold War Italy	71
The persecution of Jews during the Fascist period and the war	71
Post-war silences	79
Commemorations	91
Rethinking the war?	101
3. ‘Amnesia and Responsibility’: France, 1990–1993	108
Carpentras and the fichier juif	110
From Touvier to the Vél’ d’hiv’	116
Towards a national commemoration	134
4. ‘Reconciliation’: Italy, 1993–1996	141
Reinterpreting Fascism and the Resistance	141
The Priebke trial	159
Towards—and away from—a national commemoration	171
5. The Vél’ d’Hiv’ Commemoration: Creating a     ‘Duty to Remember’	182
A profusion of ambiguous gestures	184
Towards institutionalization	200
Les Justes	212

6. The Day of Memory: The Uses and Abuses of Official Commemoration	221
International and domestic pressures	222
A 'duty to remember'?	230
I Giusti	246
Conclusion	254
Bibliography	259
Index	284