
Table of Contents

| | |
|--|-------------|
| Foreword by Dr. P. J. V. Beumont | ix |
| Preface | xvii |
| Introduction: A Scientific Approach to Anorexia | 3 |
| Physical activity and anorexia nervosa | |
| Activity anorexia in animals | |
| The biological basis of activity anorexia | |
| The social context of activity anorexia | |
| Summary and overview | |
| References | |
| PART ONE: ANOREXIA NERVOSA | |
| Chapter One: Anorexia As A Mental Illness | 15 |
| The medical model of anorexia nervosa | |
| Physical and mental causes of anorexia | |
| Diagnosis of anorexia nervosa | |
| Psychoanalysis and anorexia nervosa | |
| Anorexia as neurosis | |
| Mental illness as a myth | |
| References | |
| Chapter Two: Non-Medical Perspectives of Anorexia | 27 |
| The social-cognitive model | |
| The behavioral model | |

Social labeling and anorexia nervosa
References

Chapter Three: Incidence, Risk and Recovery 43

Incidence of anorexia nervosa
 Geographical location
 Sex, age and socioeconomic status
Risk factors and anorexia nervosa
 Obesity, bulimia and dieting
 Family characteristics
 Eating attitudes
 Menses, exercise and anorexia
Recovery and death
References

Chapter Four: Psychological and Physical Symptoms 55

Psychological symptoms of anorexia nervosa
 Distortion of body image
 Bulimia
 Weight phobia
 Explanation of psychological symptoms
Behavioral symptoms of anorexia nervosa
 Eating, hunger and body weight
 Activity, sleep and nutrition
Physiological symptoms of anorexia nervosa
 Amenorrhea and exercise
 Other physiological symptoms
References

Chapter Five: Indirect Treatment of Anorexia Nervosa 75

Criteria for evaluating treatment
Psychoanalysis
 Evaluation of psychoanalysis
Insight psychotherapy
 Contemporary psychoanalysis
 Client-centred psychotherapy
 Evaluation of insight therapies
Family therapy
 Treatment with family therapy
 Evaluation of family therapy
Cognitive psychotherapy
 Rational-emotive psychotherapy
 Cognitive therapy
 Evaluation of cognitive therapy
References

| | |
|---|----------------|
| Chapter Six: Direct Treatments of Anorexia Nervosa | 93 |
| Medical therapy | |
| Medical regulation of anorexia | |
| Evaluation of medical therapy | |
| Behavior therapy | |
| Principles of behavior | |
| Behavior therapy and anorexia nervosa | |
| Evaluation of behavior therapy | |
| Where to find help | |
| Anorexia nervosa | |
| Depression and suicide | |
| References | |
| PART TWO: ACTIVITY ANOREXIA | |
| Chapter Seven: Behavioral Foundations of Activity Anorexia | 111 |
| Activity anorexia in animals | |
| Activity and anorexia | |
| Adaptation effects | |
| Effects of meal frequency | |
| Modification of activity anorexia | |
| Implications of animal experiments | |
| Activity anorexia in humans | |
| References | |
| Chapter Eight: Motivational Basis of Activity Anorexia | 131 |
| Effects of food supply on physical activity | |
| Deprivation, food supply and activity | |
| Meal schedules and physical activity | |
| Effects of physical activity on food intake | |
| Exercise and caloric intake | |
| Appetite and satiety | |
| Motivational interaction of eating and exercise | |
| Reinforcement value of exercise | |
| Reinforcement value of food | |
| Conclusion | |
| References | |
| Chapter Nine: Biological Basis of Activity Anorexia | 149 |
| Principles of evolution | |
| Natural selection | |
| Evolution and behavior | |
| Evolution and anorexia | |
| Evolution and activity anorexia | |
| Physiological basis of activity anorexia | |
| Activity and endogenous opiates | |
| Anorexia, exercise and fertility | |

Conclusion
References

| | |
|---|------------|
| Chapter Ten: The Social Context of Activity Anorexia | 169 |
| Culture and activity anorexia | |
| The value of fitness | |
| Thinness as a beauty standard | |
| Culture, biology and activity anorexia | |
| References | |

PART THREE: CLINICAL ASPECTS OF ACTIVITY ANOREXIA

| | |
|--|------------|
| Chapter Eleven: Assessment of Activity Anorexia | 187 |
| Classification of anorexias | |
| Functional analysis | |
| Model of activity anorexia | |
| Assessment criteria for activity anorexia | |
| Primary criteria | |
| Supplementary criteria | |
| Method of assessment | |
| References | |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Chapter Twelve: Treatment and Prevention of Activity Anorexia | 201 |
| Treatment of activity anorexia | |
| The first phase of treatment | |
| The second phase of treatment | |
| The third phase of treatment | |
| Prevention of activity anorexia | |
| Risk factors | |
| Prevention by education and self-help | |
| References | |

| | |
|--------------|------------|
| INDEX | 215 |
|--------------|------------|