

---

Contents

Introduction: Anthropological Reformations – Anthropology in the Era of Reformation . . . . . 11

I. Dimensions of Anthropological Reformations: Keynote-Lectures

Risto Saarinen
Weakness of Will: Reformation Anthropology between Aristotle and the Stoa . . . . . 17

Johan Verberckmoes
Loud voices. Emotions in the Reformation. . . . . 33

Notger Slenczka
‘Theologiae proprium subiectum est homo ...’ (Luther). Shifts in the Structure of Theological Systems in the Wake of Reformation . . . . . 55

Anna Vind
The Human Being according to Luther . . . . . 69

Wolfgang Fuhrmann
Heart and Voice – A Musical Anthropology in the Age of Reformation . . 87

Jutta Eming
Body Imagery and Knowledge in Historia von D. Johann Fausten . . . . . 113

Klaus Bergdolt
German Medicine and Italian Humanism in the Times of Reformation . . 129

Elke Anna Werner

Pictorial Concepts of Law and Grace: Relations between the Lutheran
Reformation and the Anthropology of the Image . . . . . 143

II. Reformations of Body and Soul

Kyle J. Dieleman

Body and Resurrection in Calvin's Commentaries . . . . . 157

Barbara Pitkin

Human Nature in Calvin's Commentary on Seneca . . . . . 165

Sini Mikkola

Female as the Other in Martin Luther's Anthropology in the Early 1520s . 175

Tom Bervoets

'Embodying' the Catholic Reform. Mathias Bossemius and the Defence of Clerical Celibacy in his De clericorum cum foeminis cohabitatione (1586) 187

Renske van Nie

Mystical Anthropology in a Sixteenth-Century Textual Witness of the Catholic Reformation . . . . . 197

III. Images of Reformation and Religious Imaginations

Marion Deschamp

An Embodied Theology. Body, Images and the Imagination of God by Luther . . . . . 209

Sasja Emilie Mathiasen Stopa

Soli Deo honor et gloria – the Concepts of Honour and Glory in the Theology of the Young Martin Luther . . . . . 229

Maria Lucia Weigel

Light as a Metaphor in Protestant Prints . . . . . 245

Frank Jasper Noll

„Caron mit den abgeschiednen geisten“. Antike Mythologie und christliche
Imagination bei Hans Sachs . . . . . 257

IV. Subjectivity, Freedom of Will and Faith: Ethical Questions

Svein Aage Christoffersen

Subjectivity and Self-Understanding – Some Considerations Concerning
Luther and Caravaggio . . . . . 275

Gregory B. Graybill

Dialectics as Catalyst: The Role of Aristotelian Logic in the Development of Melanchthon's Doctrine of the Will . . . . . 285

Bettina Noak

Concepts of Illness and Health in the Zedekunst dat is Wellevenskunste
(Ethics, or the Art of Living Well, 1586) by Dirck Volckertszoon Coornhert
(1522–1590) . . . . . 295

Ine Kiekens

From Vanden twaelf dogheden to Tractat vonn Tügentten. The Rewriting of a Medieval Spiritual Text in the Counter-Reformation . . . . . 305

V. Reformation of Church and Religious Practices

Herman A. Spielman

Man, Freedom, and the Church: Luther, Melanchthon, and Calvin on How to Serve God Freely, within or outside the Power of the Church . . . 319

Konrad Küster

Protestant Church Cantata: Poetical and Musical Challenges Around 1700 . . . . . 341

Anna Michalska

Churches for People. Protestant Search for the New Liturgical Space in the Sixteenth and Early Seventeenth Century . . . . . 349

Joanna Kaźmierczak

The Sixteenth-Century Pictorial Epitaph in Central Europe: Between
'Reform' and 'Reformation' . . . . . 357

Jennifer Crangle

Why did England Change its Mind? Perceptions Regarding Human Remains Before, During, and After the Reformation . . . . . 371

Gioia Filocamo

Through the mala notte: The Anthropology of Assisting Those Condemned to Die in Italy in the 15th and 16th Centuries . . . . . 383

VI. Political Theology and Anthropological Reforms of Pedagogy

Matthew J. Tuininga

Calvin as Two Kingdoms Theologian: in Theology, in Church, and in State . . . . . 393

Niranjan Goswami

Peter Ramus, William Ames and the New England Way: Investigations into Theologia Timocratica . . . . . 403

Zsombor Tóth

‘Calvinian Anthropology’ and the Early Modern Hungarian Devotion:
The Case of István Nagy Szőnyi, the First Hungarian Martyrologist . . . . 415

Kristian Mejrup

Halle Pietism: Acrobats Buying Time . . . . . 429

VII. Exemplary Studies: The Self-understanding of Reformation

BonSeung Koo

You Can Have Faith but You Cannot Assemble: The Problem of Conscience under the 17th-Century Dutch Reformed Regime – On Simon
Oomius’s Theologico-Politica Dissertatio (1662) – . . . . . 443

Thomas Klöckner

Heinrich Alting (1583–1644) – erste Einblicke in eine Biografie (zugleich ein Beitrag zur Netzwerktätigkeit der Reformierten im ausgehenden
16. Jahrhundert) . . . . . 459

VIII. Reforms in the Art of Writing: Literary approaches

Antje Wittstock

Dem Selbst auf der Spur: Heterologes Schreiben und Selbstthematisierung in Ulrich von Hutten’s Traktat De guaiaci medicina et morbo gallico. . . . 481

Daniela Kohler
The Anthropological Concept in Jakob Ruf’s Political Plays Etter Heini
and Wilhelm Tell in the Light of the Prevalent Opinions of the Swiss Reformation . . . . . 501

Sukanya Dasgupta
‘This Hidden Knowledge Have I Learned of Thee’: Anne Vaughan Lock and the ‘Invisible Church’ . . . . . 513

Hicham Merzouki
Islam in Renaissance English Literature: Between Intolerance and Exoticism . . . . . 525

IX. Ethnology in the Light of Reformation

Erin Lambert
New Worlds, New Images: Picturing the Resurrection of the Body in Sixteenth-Century Germany . . . . . 533

Michael Harrigan
The Navigations of Nicolas de Nicolay and the Economics of Ethnology in the Early Modern Mediterranean Basin . . . . . 541

Images in Colour . . . . . 557

Index . . . . . 565

About the Authors . . . . . 571