

CONTENTS

Preface

ix

PART I GENERAL DEVELOPMENTAL CONSIDERATIONS

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 1. The Developmental Profile                                  | 3   |
| 2. The Normal Child   | 37  |
| 3. Fixation and Regression                                    | 51  |
| 4. Vulnerability and Stimulation in Early Life                | 71  |
| 5. Self and Object  | 81  |
| 6. Autoerotism, Autoerotic Activities, and EgoDevelopment | 111 |
| 7. Insight in Children and Adults                             | 129 |

PART II DEVELOPMENTAL CONSIDERATIONS: EGO APPARATUS AND STRUCTURE FORMATION

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 8. The Ego Apparatus: Considerations Concerningthe Somatic Roots of the Ego | 155 |
| 9. Structure, Structuralization, and Creativity                                 | 177 |
| 10. The Contribution of Sight to Ego and DriveDevelopment                   | 205 |

PART III ADOLESCENT DEVELOPMENT

- |  |     |
|--|-----|
| 11. Diagnostic, Prognostic, and Developmental Considerations | 231 |
| 12. Female Adolescence, Sexual Identity, and Homosexuality   | 247 |

PART IV
THE DEVELOPMENTAL APPROACH IN CLINICAL PRACTICE

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 13. Sleep Disturbances  | 271 |
| 14. The Imaginary Companion   | 329 |
| 15. Children's Reactions to the Death of Important Objects                          | 363 |
| 16. Children's Reactions to Hospitalization and Illness                             | 405 |
| 17. Day-Care Centers  | 427 |
| 18. The Primary Caretaker System: A Method for Running Inpatient Units for Children | 463 |
| Index  | 491 |