

Contents

Preface	v
List of Illustrations	ix
1 Introductory: Accounting and Management	1
Development of management; The role of accounting; Further accounting services; The influence of the environment
2 The Principles of Accounting	6
Definition and objects; The first principle: distinction between capital and revenue; Nature of profit; Principle of double entry; Organisation of accounts; Source of entries; Specimen set of books
3 The Final Accounts	53
Objects of final accounts; Drawing up the final accounts; Adjustments for final accounts; The routine summarised
4 Depreciation of Fixed Assets	88
Objects of this chapter; The nature and purpose of depreciation; Depreciation methods; Accounting entries; Depreciation and Inflation;
5 Accounting Aids	100
Manual methods for use in the smaller business; Mechanised methods for use in the larger business; Computers and accounting; Organisation of the department
6 Accounting for Partnerships	125
The nature of partnerships; Partnership accounts; Goodwill; Termination of partnership
7 Accounting for Companies	132
I. Company accounts: Nature of companies; Companies formed under the Companies Acts; Private and public companies; Formation of a company; Formation of a company: the accounts;

Statutory and other books; Books of account; Reports to shareholders; Accounting principles and rates; II. Group accounting: Nature of holding companies; Pyramid of control; Accounts of holding companies; Preparation of consolidated Balance sheets; Mergers; Associate companies; III. The accountant and management: General considerations; Accountant as director; Accountant as an executive; Accountant as controller
8 Financial Accounting as an Aid to Management	168
General. The necessity for showing a dynamic picture; Necessity for topicality; Methods of ensuring up-to-date accounts; Principle of comparison; Profit as a sign of efficiency; Funds flow statement; The value added statement; Investment in assets; Replacement of fixed assets; Statistical aids in the interpretation of accounts; Presentation of statistics; Statistics for investors;
9 The Essentials of Cost Accounting	217
Nature and meaning of costing; Objectives of costing; Organisation of a costing system; Elementary exercise in costing; Integration of cost and financial accounts; Labour costing; Material costs; Application of overheads; More complex systems; Standard costs; Marginal costing
10 Budgetary Control	276
Objectives of budgetary control; Outline of the methods; Profit target; Functional budgets; Comparing the performance with the budget; Practical budgeting
Appendixes
I. A Brief Computer Glossary	308
II. The Provision of Capital	310
III. Taxation	315
IV. Notes on Inflation Accounting	325
Suggestions for Further Reading	335
Index	337