

Contents

List of Tables	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Notes on Contributors	xiv
Introduction: Authority, Gender, and Emotions in Late Medieval and Early Modern England Susan Broomhall	1
1 From Letters to Loyalty: Aline la Despenser and the Meaning(s) of a Noblewoman's Correspondence in Thirteenth-Century England Kathleen Neal	18
2 The Role of Exempla in Educating through Emotion: The Deadly Sin of 'lecherye' in Robert Mannyng's Handlyng Synne (1303–1317) Anne M. Scott	34
3 How to be 'Both': Bilingual and Gendered Emotions in Late Medieval English Balade Sequences Stephanie Downes	51
4 St Richard Scrope, the Devout Widow, and the Feast of Corpus Christi: Exploring Emotions, Gender, and Governance in Early Fifteenth-Century York P. J. P. Goldberg	66
5 Anxieties with Political and Social Order in Fifteenth-Century England Merridee L. Bailey	84
6 Raising Girls and Boys: Fear, Awe, and Dread in the Early Modern Household Stephanie Tarbin	106
7 Authority in the French Church in Later Sixteenth-Century London Susan Broomhall	131

8	'The Pattern of All Patience': Gender, Agency, and Emotions in Embroidery and Pattern Books in Early Modern England Sarah Randles	150
9	A Subject for Love in The Merry Wives of Windsor Diana G. Barnes	168
10	Emotions, Gender Expectations, and the Social Role of Chancery, 1550–1650 Amanda L. Capern	187
	Select Bibliography	210
	Index	222