

Contents

A personal food prologue	vi
Acknowledgments	x
1 Caring about food	1
2 Thinking through food and femininity: A conceptual toolkit	23
3 Strolling the aisles and feeling food shopping	42
4 Maternal foodwork: The emotional ties that bind	64
5 The "do-diet": Embodying healthy femininities	87
6 Food politics: The gendered work of caring through food	110
7 Food pleasures in the postfeminist kitchen	133
8 Conclusion: Cooking as a feminist act?	156
Appendix A Participant demographics	176
Appendix B Methods	185
Appendix C Discourse analysis of food media	194
References	197
Index	217