

Contents

	Preface	vii
1	From the beginnings to 1695	1
2	Intelligence, instruction and entertainment, 1695-1760		31
3	Liberty, licentiousness and venality	58
4	The early Radical Press and the Sunday newspaper		88
5	The growth of a new reading public and the struggle to control it	120
6	The age of The Times	152
7	The provincial Press, 1701-1854	178
8	The explosion: from 1855 to the advent of Northcliffe		204
	Conclusion	222
	Sources and references	227
	Bibliography	232
	Index	235	