

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Abbreviations and Translations	xi
Introduction
Attraction and Critique	3
Part One. Organization, Bifurcation, Instability
Chapter 1
The Improbable Coherence of Contingent Things: Aesthetic Exercises in the Work of Alexander Baumgarten	25
Chapter 2
The Persistence of the Fragile World	51
Chapter 3
Resistance to Harmony and the Limits of Order	83
Conclusion to Part One
Poetic Modalities of Being	117
Part Two. Imagination, Perturbation, Stimulation
Chapter 4
Disequilibrium and the Movement of Poetry	123
Chapter 5
Stimulation and Disorganization in Novalis's Hymns to the Night	143
Chapter 6
Difference/Indifference: Novalis's The Novices of Sais	179
Conclusion to Part Two
Incited Speech	205

Part Three. Pleasure, Immanence, Novelty

Chapter 7

Pleasure, Utility, and Transcendental Saturation 211

Chapter 8

The Depth of the Surface and Anacreontic Reflexivity 229

Chapter 9

Anacreontic Play and the Disorganization of Transcendental Orders 281

Conclusion to Part Three

The Death of Anacreon 317

Afterword

World Regeneration 321

Notes 333

Works Cited 371

Index 383