

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
1 Interpreting the Concepts of Black Nationalism, Black Internationalism, Pan-Africanism, and Universal Humanism within the Diaspora	9
2 Toussaint Louverture: The Educational and Sociopolitical Legacy of a Leader	33
3 Edward Blyden, Martin Delany: Perspectives on Education and Religion	48
4 The Voices of the Foremothers: Race, Gender, and Survival	69
5 Two Personalities, One God, One Aim, One Destiny: W. E. B. Du Bois, Marcus Garvey, and the New Negro Renaissance	99
6 Jean Price-Mars: Indigénisme and the Formulae of Social Transformation	119
7 Aimé Césaire: Négritude and the Lessons of Decolonization	137
8 Nicolás Guillén and the Afrocriollo Movement: The Valorization of African Heritage in Hispanic Culture	163
9 The Principles of Self-Governance and Black Power in the Writings of Kwame Nkrumah and Malcolm X	179

Conclusion	197
Appendix	201
Bibliography	221
Index	229
About the Author	241