

The CONTENTS

A 1,418-WORD INTRODUCTION BY ANNE WASHBURN (p. 9)

A 384-WORD PREFACE BY MATT ZOLLER SEITZ (p. 13)

A 1,751-WORD CRITICAL ESSAY BY MATT ZOLLER SEITZ (p. 19)

THE 7,269-WORD First Interview (p. 31)

Proper Exploring: AN INTERVIEW WITH
RALPH FIENNES (p. 65)

They Wear What They Are: The Grand Budapest Hotel and the Art of Movie Costumes

BY CHRISTOPHER LAVERTY (p. 77)

The Wes Anderson Style: AN INTERVIEW WITH MILENA CANONERO (p. 85)

2

THE 5,069-WORD Second Interview (p. 101)
The Music of The Grand Budapest Hotel:
A Place, Its People, and Their Story

BY OLIVIA COLLETTE (p. 121)

Intimate Sound: AN INTERVIEW WITH
ALEXANDRE DESPLAT (p. 131)

A Grand Stage: The Production Design of The Grand Budapest Hotel

BY STEVEN BOONE (p. 141)

Keeping the Trains Running: AN INTERVIEW
WITH ADAM STOCKHAUSEN (p. 149)

THE 8,838-WORD Third Interview (p. 175)

Worlds of Yesterday BY ALI ARIKAN (p. 207)

Stefan Zweig EXCERPTS (p. 215)

A Whole Different Element: AN INTERVIEW WITH ROBERT YEOMAN (p. 227)

Wes Anderson Takes the 4:3 Challenge

BY DAVID BORDWELL (p. 235)

THE SOCIETY OF THE CROSSED PENS (p. 251) THE INDEX (p. 252)

THE IMAGE CREDITS (p. 254) THE ACKNOWLEDGMENTS (p. 255)