

CONTENTS

Preface	viii
Map	x
1 The Russian Empire at a Strategic Crossroads, 1762–1768	1
Catherine II and the Polish project	3
Haidamak revolt	10
The Balta incident	12
2 The Ottoman Empire and its Frontier in Pontic Europe	15
“Exhaustion and decline”	17
Decentralization and army organization	21
Decentralization and military finance	23
Ottoman military “obsolescence”	25
Border defenses	28
Moldavia and Wallachia under phanariot rule	30
The Ottoman Balkans, Bucak, and Ochakov	32
The Crimean Khanate	38
The Kuban steppe and the Caucasus	43
The decision for war	46
3 The Russian Empire and its Black Sea Steppe Frontier	49
Recruit levies and the soul tax	51
Provincial administration and staffing	54
Security, colonization, and economic development in Russia’s Black Soil south	59
The Don Cossack Host	64
Frontier populations and the Black Sea trade	69
Left Bank Ukraine: the fate of the Hetmanate	70
From Sloboda Ukraine to the Khar’kov and New Russian governorates	74
The Zaporozhian Cossack Host	79
Cameralist management of subject nationalities and frontier populations	82
4 The Russian Army at Midcentury	85
The Russian army in the Seven Years’ War	85
Military reform on the eve of Catherine II’s Turkish War	92
The training ordinances of 1763	99
Doctrine and innovation	101

Contents

5	The Khotin Campaign, 1769	107
	The Russian war plan	107
	The Ottoman war plan	110
	The Tatar invasion of New Russia	111
	The First Army, April–May 1769	114
	The recovery of Azov and Taganrog	118
	Golitsyn's second attempt on Khotin, July–August 1	119
	The fall of Khotin, August 29–September 10	125
	The First Army in Moldavia, September–December	128
	Operations against the Bar Confederates	130
	The Caucasus in 1769–1770	132
6	The Year of Victories, 1770	135
	The winter war in Moldavia and Wallachia	135
	The First Army in winter quarters	137
	Rumiantsev's new training ordinances	139
	Riabaia Mogila	141
	Larga	142
	Kagul and Kartal	144
	The Second Army and the siege of Bender	146
	Ismail, Kiliia, Akkirman, and Ibrail	148
	Orlov's Aegean expedition	150
	The Morean revolt	154
	Chios and Çeşme	155
	Austria alarmed, 1770	160
7	Stalemate and Break-Out	165
	A war of posts	165
	Conquest of Crimea	172
	Russian naval power in the eastern Mediterranean	178
	The defeat of the Bar Confederation	181
	The First Partition of Poland	185
	The peace talks at Giurgiu and Bucharest	186
	The strains of war	188
	The Danube Front in 1773	193
	The break-out	200
8	Peace, Reforms, and Provocations	205
	The Treaty of Kuchuk-Kainarji	205
	The reform of provincial government	208
	Liquidation of the Don and Zaporozhian Hosts	211
	Ukraine	213
	New Russia	216

Contents

The Black Sea Fleet	220
The army under Potemkin	221
The issue of Russian “protection” of the Christian millets	223
The problem of Poland	228
The last days of the Crimean Khanate	230
The annexation of Crimea	234
Triumphal march	240
Conclusions	243
Notes	249
Bibliography	298
Index	316