

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgements	viii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Audronė Žukauskaitė and S. E. Wilmer
Part I Difference, Becoming, Multiplicity
1 Ideas in Beckett and Deleuze Anthony Uhlmann	23
2 Creative Involution: Bergson, Beckett, Deleuze S. E. Gontarski	36
3 Deleuze and Beckett Towards Becoming-Imperceptible Audronė Žukauskaitė	60
Part II Psychoanalysis and Sociality
4 Breakdown or Breakthrough? Deleuzoguattarian Schizophrenia and Beckett's Gallery of Moribunds Benjamin Keatinge	81
5 'Till ooze again and on': Textual Desire and the Subject's Presence (Beckett, Deleuze, Lacan) Isabelle Ost	97
6 The Test is Company: A Deleuzian Speculation on Beckett's Sociendum Timothy S. Murphy	111
Part III Space, Time and Memory
7 Different Spaces: Beckett, Deleuze, Bergson David Addyman	137
8 The Problem of the Any-Space-Whatever between Deleuze's Cinema and Beckett's Prose Garin Dowd	152
9 Erecting Monuments to Analogue: Memory and/as Sensation in Atom Egoyan's Krapp's Last Tape and Steenbeckett Colin Gardner	169

Part IV Theatre and Performance

10	Beckett and Deleuze, Tragic Thinkers Ruben Borg	193
11	A Crystal-Theatre: Beckett, Deleuze and Theatre's Crystalline Potential Daniel Koczy	207
12	'I switch off': Towards a Beckettian Minority of Theatrical Event Arka Chattopadhyay	230
	Index	246