

Contents

Preface	ix
PART ONE The Emergence of the Field	1
Stephen M. Weiss, editor
1 Education for a Lifetime of Learning	3
Neal E. Miller
2 Historical Highlights in the Emergence of the Field	15
Judith Rodin and George C. Stone
3 The Scope of Health Psychology	27
George C. Stone
4 Relationships of Health Psychology to Other Segments of Psychology	41
Joseph D. Matarazzo
5 Health Psychology and Other Health Professions	61
Stephen M. Weiss
PART TWO The Knowledge Base	75
Neal E. Miller, editor
6 Basic Laboratory Research in Health Psychology	77
Neil Schneiderman
7 Basic Field Research in Health Psychology	91
Nancy E. Adler, Shelley E. Taylor, and Camille B. Wortman
8 Training for Applied Research in Health Psychology	107
Jerome E. Singer
PART THREE Applications of Health Psychology	119
Michael J. Follick, editor

9	Health Care Services Steven R. Tulkin	121
10	Health Psychology at the Worksite Michael J. Follick, David B. Abrams, Rodger P. Pinto, and Joanne L. Fowler	137
11	Community Interventions and Health Psychology: An Ecologically Oriented Perspective Edison J. Trickett	151
12	Health Psychology and Public Health Ruth R. Faden	165
13	Health Psychology and Health Policy Patrick H. DeLeon and Gary R. VandenBos	175
PART FOUR Professional Issues in Health Psychology Cynthia D. Belar, editor		189
14	Credentials for Health Psychologists Nelson F. Jones	191
15	Ethical Concerns in Health Psychology Charles Swencionis and Judy E. Hall	203
16	An Overview of Health Psychology and the Law Robinsue Frohboese and Thomas D. Overcast	217
17	Employment Options for Health Psychologists David G. Altman and Jerry Cahn	231
PART FIVE Health Psychology and Segments of the Population Judith Rodin, editor		245
18	Women's Health Issues: An Emerging Priority for Health Psychology Mary A. Jansen	249
19	Race, Ethnicity, and Health Psychology: The Example of Essential Hypertension Norman B. Anderson and James S. Jackson	265
20	Child Health Psychology Ronald B. Kurz	285
21	Older Persons and Health Psychology Margaret Gatz, Cynthia Pearson, and Wendy Weicker	303

PART SIX	Challenges and Opportunities in Training Health Psychologists	321
	Joseph D. Matarazzo, editor
22	The Current Status of Predoctoral and Postdoctoral Training in Health Psychology	325
	Cynthia D. Belar
23	Predoctoral Education and Training in Health Psychology	335
	Thomas J. Boll
24	Apprenticeships in Health Psychology	351
	Bonnie R. Strickland
25	Postdoctoral Training for Research	361
	Howard S. Friedman
26	Postdoctoral Education and Training of Service Providers in Health Psychology	371
	Joseph D. Matarazzo
27	Postdoctoral Training in Health Policy	389
	Lee Sechrest
28	Respecialization and Continuing Education for Health Psychology	403
	Wilbur E. Fordyce and Manfred J. Meier
29	Accreditation of Training Programs	413
	Paul D. Nelson
30	Curricula of Graduate Training Programs in Health Psychology	425
	Joseph Istvan and Daniel C. Hatton
PART SEVEN	Sites for Training Health Psychologists	449
	Jerome E. Singer, editor
31	Health Psychology Training in University Departments	453
	Judith Rodin and Johanna Freedman
32	Training Health Psychologists in the Academic Medical Center	467
	Gilbert Levin and Charles Swencionis
33	Schools of the Allied Health Professions	473
	Nathan Perry

34	Training Health Psychologists in Schools of Public Health Karen A. Matthews and Judith M. Siegel	481
35	Educating Health Psychologists: Lessons to Be Learned at School Jean R. Eagleston and Carl E. Thoresen	493
36	Schools of Professional Psychology as Sites for Training Health Psychologists Nelson F. Jones	505
37	Health Psychology in the Twenty-first Century The Editors	513
	List of Contributors	525
	Index	529