
Contents

FOREWORD	x
PREFACE	xi
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xii

PART I Introduction to Health Psychology 1

Chapter 1

THE FIELD OF HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY 2

The Social and Cultural Context	4
Psychological Contributors to and Treatments of Illness	8
The Institutional Context	13
Medical Ethics	16
Methodology	17
Summary	23

Chapter 2

THE TRADITIONAL MEDICAL MODEL BECOMES THE NEW HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY 24

The Traditional Medical Model	26
The Health Psychology Model	30
The Internal System: Nerves, Hormones, and Immunity	34
Summary	38

PART II The Social and Cultural Context 39

Chapter 3

THE SOCIAL NATURE OF ILLNESS 40

Influences on Medical Help Seeking	42
What Is Illness?	43
Cultural and Demographic Influences	45
Social Perception, Attribution, and Illness	49
Health Care Utilization	59
Health Care and the Poor	61
Wellness	64
Summary	66

Chapter 4

COOPERATION (ADHERENCE) AND PRACTITIONER-PATIENT RELATIONS 68

The Problem of Noncooperation	70
Reasons for Lack of Cooperation	74
The Care of the Patient	83
Practitioner-Patient Relationships	92
Summary	99

Chapter 5

COMMUNICATION WITH PATIENTS 101

The Problem of Practitioner-Patient Communication	102
Medical Jargon	105
Nonverbal Communication Between Patients and Practitioners	111
Interviewing in the Health Care Context	123
Summary	131

PART III Psychological Contributors to and Treatments of Illness 133

Chapter 6

THE MIND AND THE BODY 134

The Cartesian Dualism Versus Holistic Health	136
Belief and Its Function in Health	139
Pain	146
Summary	154

Chapter 7

STRESS AND ILLNESS 156

What Is Stress?	158
Models of Stress and Illness	163
Loss, Life Change, and Illness	166
Coping with Stress	179
Summary	188

Chapter 8

PERSONALITY AND HEALTH 192

Models of Personality and Disease	194
Health: Hardiness and Salutogenesis	198
The Coronary-Prone Personality	201
The Disease-Prone Personality	206
Personality and the Immune System	213
Implications for Society	216
Summary	219

Chapter 9

ADAPTATION TO ILLNESS: COPING, SOCIAL SUPPORT, AND DISABILITY 220

Adaptation to the Crisis of Illness	222
Coping with Chronic Illness	227

Social Support	233
Special Cases of Chronic Illness	239
Summary	248

Chapter 10

DYING AND DEATH 249

People's Reactions to Impending Death	252
Reactions of Family and Friends	256
The Caregiver's Reactions to Dying Patients	264
Children and Death	266
Suicide	271
Summary	276

PART IV The Institutional Context 279

Chapter 11

THE HEALTH CARE PROFESSIONAL 280

Medical Training	283
Stress and Its Effects on Practicing Health Care Professionals	291
Decision Making in Health Care	298
Women in Medicine	303
Summary	309

Chapter 12

THE HEALTH CARE SYSTEM 310

Women as Patients	312
Human Sexuality	315
The Hospital Environment	317
Institutionalization of the Aged	328
The Hospice	332
Summary	335

Chapter 13HEALTH PROMOTION AND DISEASE PREVENTION

338

Nutrition	339
Drug Abuse	346
Cigarette Smoking	350
Exercise	354
Safe Environments	356
Immunizations and Prophylaxis	359
Summary	362

PART V The Future365Chapter 14GOALS FOR THE FUTURE OF HEALTH PSYCHOLOGY*

366

The Changing and Aging Patient Population	367
The Limits of Medicine	368
The Changing Health Care System	370
The Promise of Health Psychology	373
Conclusion	376

REFERENCES

377

INDEX

433