

Uniting Blacks in a Raceless Nation

Blackness, Afro-Cuban Culture, and Mestizaje in the Prose and Poetry of Nicolás Guillén

Miguel/Arnedo-Gómez

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
1 Afro-Cuban Reformulations of Afrocolonismo and Mestizaje in 1930s Cuba	1
2 Racism and the Myth of Racial Equality in Nicolás Guillén's 1930s Essays on Racial Inequality	39
3 Guillén's Afro-Cuban Other and Black Intraracial Discrimination in Motivos de son	63
4 The Search for a Mulatto Identity in Motivos de son , "Balada de los dos abuelos," "El apellido," and "Son número 6"	93
5 Renegrifying Sóngoro cosongo and "La canción del bongó"	135
6 Guillén's Black Masculinist Visions of the Mulata's Cross-Racial Proclivities	173
Reaffirming the Afro-Cuban Subject, from Mestizaje to Heterogeneity	209
Bibliography	217
Index	233
About the Author	237