

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
List of Abbreviations	xxi

Critical Perspectives

Old English Literature in Its Most Immediate Context FRED C. ROBINSON	3
Anglo-Saxon Literary Theory Exemplified in Old English Poems: Interpreting the Cross in The Dream of the Rood and Elene MARTIN IRVINE	31
Old English Women, Old English Men: A Reconsideration of "Minor" Characters ALEXANDRA HENNESSEY OLSEN	65
Some Aspects of Metonymy in Old English Poetry GILLIAN R. OVERING	85
The Return of the Repressed: Old and New Theories in Old English Literary Criticism ROY M. LIUZZA	103

Essays on Individual Poems

The Battle of Maldon 89: Byrhtnoð's ofermod Once Again HELMUT GNEUSS	149
--	-----

The Battle of Maldon in Its Manuscript Context MARY P. RICHARDS	173
The Battle of Maldon: A Historical, Heroic, and Political Poem W.G. BUSSE AND R. HOLTEI	185
Heroic Experience in the Old English Riddles EDWARD B. IRVING, JR.	199
Second Thoughts on the Interpretation of The Seafarer JOHN C. POPE	213
Sylf, Seasons, Structure and Genre in The Seafarer STANLEY B. GREENFIELD	231
Some Hypotheses Concerning The Seafarer JOHN F. VICKREY	251
Man, Time, and Apocalypse in The Wanderer , The Seafarer , and Beowulf MARTIN GREEN	281
Speaker and Speech Boundaries in The Wanderer GERALD RICHMAN	303
Widsið and the Tenth Century JOYCE HILL	319
Women's Words as Weapons: Speech as Action in The Wife's Lament BARRIE RUTH STRAUS	335

The Situation of the Narrator in the Old English
Wife's Lament

KARL P. WENTERSDORF

357

The Ambiguity of Wulf and Eadwacer

PETER S. BAKER

393

The Text and Context of Wulf and Eadwacer

MARIJANE OSBORN

409