

Contents

Notes on contributors	ix
Discourses and ideologies of mobility: an introduction MARCEL ENDRES, KATHARINA MANDERSCHIED AND CHRISTOPHE MINCKE	1
PART I
Mobility and normativity	9
1 From mobility to its ideology: when mobility becomes an imperative CHRISTOPHE MINCKE	11
2 Identity construction and mobility in pilgrims' and travelers' writings: contemporary reports about the Way of St James and the Hippie Trail FRANK NEUBERT	34
3 Instrumentalising the 'mobility argument': discursive patterns in the Romanian media CAMELIA BECIU AND MIRELA LAZAR	48
4 The discursive accomplishment of rationalities in the automobility regime LAURA BANG LINDEGAARD	68

PART II
Mobile subjects	89
5 Who does the move? Affirmation or deconstruction of the solitary mobile subject	91
KATHARINA MANDERSCHIED
6 Passengers without havens? Discourses on the hypermobile subject and self-conceptions of frequent travellers	114
MARCEL ENDRES
7 ‘Inappropriate’ Europeans: on fear, space and Roma mobility	144
BIRGITTA FRELLO
PART III
Mobilised infrastructures	161
8 For the power, against the power: the political discourses of high-speed rail in Europe, the United States and China	163
ANDER AUDIKANA AND ZENHUA CHEN
9 Small technologies and big systems	186
THOMAS BIRTCHELL AND JOHN URRY
10 From the urban planning discourse to a circulation dispositif: an epistemological approach to the mobility turn	202
PAULINE WOLFF
Index	225