

Contents

Preface	ix
Some Results of Testing Educational Psychology	xiii
Instructions to the Student	xvii
Part I: About This Book	I
1 What Educational Psychology Contributes to the Teacher	3
Educational psychology and the aims of the teacher / Problems studied by the educational psychologist / A few comments on the design of this book
For Further Reading	7
Part II: Research Tools of the Behavioral Scientist	9
2 Collecting Data: Methods for Studying Human Behavior	11
Describing the development of behavior: observational research techniques / Explaining human behavior: experimental research techniques / Interpreting the results of experimental behavioral research: a look at probability theory / References
3 Interpreting Data: Averages and Measures of Dispersion	35
Averages / The mean / The mode / The median / The normal curve / Measures of dispersion / References
4 Interpreting Data: Correlation Methods	83
Using the correlation coefficient to describe behavior / Understanding correlation / Interpreting correlations cited in the literature / References
5 Evaluating Behavior	109
Should we evaluate in the first place? / A rationale for evaluating behavior / Using behavioral objectives / Goals of evaluation / Learning for mastery / Developing evaluating instruments / Standardized testing: What does it do? / Interpreting the results of standardized tests: Validity and reliability / References
For Further Reading	129

Part III: Thinking and Understanding	131
6 Intelligence and the IQ Score	133
What is intelligence? / The causes of intelligence: A study in controversy / IQ tests—what they actually measure / Intelligence tests used with children / Different kinds of IQ scores / Judging the usefulness of an IQ test: Validity and reliability / References
7 Piaget's Approach to Mental Development	159
Some generalizations about mental development / A critical analysis of Piaget's research / The educational implications of Piaget's theories / References
For Further Reading	181
Part IV: Growth and Development	183
8 The Pre-School Child	185
Some generalizations about growth and development / Growth and development as a function of chronological age / Developmental stages of the child / The effects of the environment on the developing child / Child-rearing techniques: Their effects on development / The effects of pre-school education / References
9 The Child in School	213
Reading: An important early cognitive task for the school child / The middle years: Developing self-esteem / Adolescence: A period of crisis / References
For Further Reading	233
Part V: Learning	237
10 Conditioning	239
Learning: The associationist approach / Learning: The behaviorist approach / Classical conditioning / Operant conditioning / The role of conditioning in higher-order classroom learning / References
11 Motivating	271
Drive-reduction concepts of motivation / An examination of the research evidence / Anxiety: One drive with a strong effect on behavior / Applications of motivation theory to the classroom / References
For Further Reading	296

Part VI: Theories of Instruction	297
12 Increasing the Efficiency of Instruction	299
Programmed instruction / Classroom management / Instruction individually prescribed for the student / References
13 Increasing the Flexibility of Learning	319
Informal teaching in the British infant schools / Trends toward informal education in the U.S. / The responsive environment: Another response to the crisis in the schools / The results of flexibility in the classroom / References
For Further Reading	336
Author Index	339
Subject Index	343