

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
I. Problems of Identity	1
II. Concepts of Assimilation and Ethnic Identity	6
1. The Process of Jewish Assimilation in Germany	18
The Debate of German-Jewish Assimilation	19
Towards a Re-definition of German-Jewish Ethnic Identity	26
2. Life Under the Threat of Nazism	47
The Crisis of the German-Jewish Identity	47
A Period of Re-orientation	50
The Significance of the Eastern European Jewish Immigrants	53
Aspects of Jewish-Gentile Relationships in the 1930s	57
Effects of the Nazi Policies on the German-Jewish Community	69
3. Emigration	76
Academics	78
The Medical Profession	83
The Legal Profession	87
Artists	91
Business People	104
November 1938	110
4. Search for New Roots	121
The Burden of the Past	121
German-Jewish Institutions	147
5. The Ambiguities of Ethnic Identification	173
England—A New Haven?	173
Germany—A Winter's Tale	188

6. 'Continental' Britons	214
Problems of Identity	214
Elements of Continental Ethnicity	220
Encounters with Anglo-Jewry	228
The Third Generation	231
Conclusions	246
Bibliography	250
Index	265