

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	xii
1 Introduction: Disturbing Pasts Stephanie Bird, Mary Fulbrook, Julia Wagner and Christiane Wienand	1
Part I Emotional Connections
2 Guilt and Shame among Communities of Experience, Connection and Identification Mary Fulbrook	15
3 Shamed by Nazi Crimes: The First Step towards Germans' Re-education or a Catalyst for Their Wish to Forget? Ulrike Weckel	33
4 Ashamed about the Past: The Case of Nazi Collaborators and Their Families in Post-war Dutch Society Ismee Tames	47
5 Autobiography, Moral Witnessing and the Disturbing Memory of Nazi Euthanasia Susanne C. Knittel	65
Part II Disturbing Narratives
6 Disturbing Mending: On the Imagined Third Generation of Holocaust Survivors in Israeli Literature of the Second Generation Tsila Ratner	85
7 Disturbing the Past: The Representation of the Waldheim Affair in Robert Schindel's Der Kalte Katya Krylova	107
8 The Return of the Jew in Polish Culture Uilleam Blacker	125
Part III Fascination/Pleasure
9 Don't Mention the War Julian Petley	143
10 'However sick a joke ...': On Comedy, the Representation of Suffering, Rainer Werner Fassbinder's Melodrama and Volker Koepp's Melancholy Stephanie Bird	161
11 Disturbing Anselm Kiefer Caitriona Leahy	181

Part IV Better Futures? (Dis) Placing Identities

12	German Tourists in Europe and Reminders of a Disturbing Past Julia Wagner	199
13	Reverberations of a Disturbing Past: Reconciliation Activities of Young West Germans in the 1960s and 1970s Christiane Wienand	215
14	Disturbing Pasts and Better Futures: A Comparison of Recent Approaches to the Past among Bukovina Jews and Bukovina Germans Gaëlle Fisher	233
15	How to Cope with It? The Steuben Society of America's Politics of Memory and the Holocaust Julia Lange	251
	Afterword: Hauntings and Revisitings Lisa Appignanesi	265
	Index	273