

Table of Contents

Introduction: Migration From a Transdisciplinary Perspective Marcus Hartner and Marion Schulte	9
Part I: Linguistic and Didactic Aspects of Migration
Language Contact in the History of English Marion Schulte	21
Languages and People in Contact: Contact Languages Anne Schröder	37
Accents in the US as a Result of Migration: The Case of Rhoticity Vivian Gramley	49
People in Movement, Languages in Movement Stephan Gramley	63
The Impact of Immigration on Bilingual Education Policies and Programs in the United States: A Historical Overview Nathan Devos	85
Migration in the Curriculum and Classroom Diversity Isabella Seeger	101
Part II: Literary and Cultural Aspects of Migration
Putting Down Roots in New Soil: Mass Migration in Britain in the Period of Industrialization Jutta Schwarzkopf	123
From Göttingen to Galveston: Travel Writing and German Migration to Texas, 1830–1848 Astrid Haas	135
Early British Migration to South Africa, the 'Settler Story' and Coetzee's Disgrace Patricia Nell Skorge	153

Images of 'Home': National Stereotypes in Monica Ali's Brick Lane, Chris Cleave's The Other Hand and Other Contemporary Fictions of Migration	173
Marcus Hartner
The Universe a Cloth – Rethinking 'Home' with Sandra Cisneros' Caramelo	187
Julia Andres
Sonic Migrations or Fandango Sin Fronteras: Transversal Flows and Community Networks between Mexico and the US	199
Wilfried Raussert
On the Move: Migrating Artists and the Movements of Modernism	217
Betsy van Schlun	