

Contents

An Autobiographical Preface.....	vii
Introduction: Autobiographical Writing as a Genre.....	1
Chapter One: An Autobiography Unites The Mimetic/ Diegetic Voices In a Synecdochic Narrative..... 17
PART ONE: FICTIONAL AUTOBIOGRAPHIES.....	21
Tristram Shandy .....	21
Hermione Gart.....	30
A Man Lying on His Back in the Dark .....	37
A Ninety-Five Year Old Man About to Commit Suicide.....	41
PART TWO: NON-FICTIONAL AUTOBIOGRAPHIES.....	50
Helen Keller .....	50
Christopher Nolan .....	56
John Stuart Mill.....	61
Maya Angelou .....	71
Chapter Two: A Memoir Compares and Contrasts the Mime- tic/Diegetic Voices in a Metaphoric Narrative.... 79
PART ONE: FICTIONAL MEMOIRS .....	86
Gogo, Didi, Pozzo, Lucky.....	86
Tom Wingfield.....	93
PART TWO: NON-FICTIONAL MEMOIRS .....	99
William Wordsworth.....	99
Maxine Hong Kingston .....	108
Arthur Miller .....	113
Edmund Gosse .....	121
Mary McCarthy .....	126

Chapter Three: A Confession Reveals Mimetic/Diegetic Voices in a Metonymic Narrative .....	135
PART ONE: FICTIONAL CONFESSIONS .....	141
George, Martha, Nick and Honey .....	141
PART TWO: NON-FICTIONAL CONFESSIONS.....	156
Thomas DeQuincey.....	156
Norman Mailer.....	163
Andrew Greeley.....	170
Perry Edward Smith.....	176
Chapter Four: John Henry Newman: Confessor, Autobiographer, Memoirist .....	189
His Syncdochic Self: Student and Scholar .....	191
His Metaphoric Selves: The Quest for Certainty.....	195
His Metonymic Self: The Right to Private Judgment.....	206
Conclusion: A Philosophy of Autobiographical Writing: A Metaphysics of Presence.....	219
Bibliography.....	239
Index .....	251