Chapter 1. Conducting Surveys: Everyone Is Doing It	1
Overview	1
What Is a Survey?	2
Example: Surveys to Meet Policy or Program Needs	2
Example: Surveys in Evaluations of Programs	2
Example: Surveys for Research	3
When Is a Survey Best?	3
Example: From an Overly Ambitious
Self-Administered Questionnaire	4
Example: Surveys Combined With Other Information Sources	5
Self-Administered Questionnaires and Interviews:
The Heart of the Matter	5
Questions and Responses	6
Example: Forced-Choice Question	6
Example: Open-Ended Question	6
Survey Sample and Design	6
Planning for Data Analysis	7
Pilot Testing	8
Response Rate	8
Reporting Results	9
Example: The Look of Survey Results (1)	9
Example: The Look of Survey Results (2)	9
Example: The Look of Survey Results (3)	10
The Friendly Competition	11
Reliability and Validity	11
Usefulness or Credibility of Results	11
Costs	11
The Special Case of Online Surveys	11
Checklist for Deciding the Best Uses for Online Surveys	12
Guidelines for Surveyors Who Work With Commercial
Survey Companies	14
The Special Case of Cell or Mobile Phones	14
Making the Decision	15

A Survey Continuum: From Specific to General Use	18
Example: Survey With a Specific Use	18
Example: Survey With a General Use	18
Ethics, Privacy, and Confidentiality	19
Informed Consent	20
Contents of an Informed-Consent Form	20
The Internet and Ethical Surveys	20
Example Questionnaire: Maintaining an Ethically
Sound Online Survey	24
Example: Informed-Consent Form for an Online Survey	25
Children and Survey Ethics	26
Example: Child Assent Form	27
International Surveys	28
Formal Standards for Survey Ethics	29

Chapter 2. The Survey Form: Questions, Scales, and Appearance	35
Overview	35
The Content Is the Message	35
Define the Terms	36
Select Your Information Needs or Hypotheses	36
Make Sure You Can Get the Information	37
Do Not Ask for Information Unless You Can Act on It	37
Example: Plan for Survey of Satisfaction With the Youth Center	38
Writing Questions	38
Open-Ended and Closed Questions	38
Example: Open-Ended Question	38
Example: Closed Question	38
Example: Open-Ended Question for Elementary School
Teaching Program	39
Example: Closed Question for Elementary School
Teaching Program	40
Making the Decision: Open-Ended Versus Closed Questions	40
Organizing Responses to Open-Ended Survey Items:
Do You Get Any Satisfaction?	40
Step 1: Asking Respondents' Opinions	40
Step 2: Coding LB/LL Data	41
Example LB/LL: Response Categories	41
Example LB/LL: Participant Responses	41
Step 3: LB/LL Data	42
Example LB/LL: Number of Responses for Each Code	42
Example LB/LL: Participants' Response Pattern	42
Example LB/LL: Summary of Responses	43

Rules for Writing Closed Survey Questions	44
Example: Item-Writing Skills—Length, Clarity, Abbreviations, and Jargon	45
Example: Item-Writing Skills—Concrete Questions	46
Example: Item-Writing Skills—Specificity of Questions	46
Example: Item-Writing Skills—Hidden Biases	47
Example: Item-Writing Skills—Hidden Biases	47
Example: Question-Writing Skills—Very Personal Questions	48
Example: Question-Writing Skills—One Thought per Question	48
Responses for Closed Questions	48
Yes and No	48
Example: Yes-and-No Responses	49
Rating Scales	49
Categorical or Continuous? What About Ordinal?	49
Example: Categorical Rating Scale	49
Example: Ordinal Rating Scale	49
Ordinal Scales	51
Example: Ordinal Scales	51
Example: Selecting the Number of Categories	51
Example: Rank Order Scale	53
Example: Comparative Rating Scale	53
Checklist	53
Example: Checklist Responses in Which Respondent Must Choose One From a List of Several	53
Example: Checklist Responses That Respondents Answer Yes, No, or Don't Know for Each Item in a List	54
Children and Surveys	54
Online Surveys	57
Example: Survey Progress Bar	58
Example: Response to One Question Dictates the Response to the Next	59
Example: Explanation for Changing Online Responses	59
Plain and Simple Survey Questions and Responses	60
Scaling	60
Additive Scales	60
Example: A Survey With an Additive Scale	61
Example: A Survey of Foreign Language Skills	62
Differential Scales	62
Example: Scoring a Differential Scale	62
Summated Scales	63
Example: Creating a Summated Scale for a Self-Esteem Survey	63
Example: Scoring a Summated Scale	64
SUMMING UP	64
THINK ABOUT THIS	65

Chapter 3. Getting It Together: Some Practical Concerns	67
Overview	67
Length Counts	68
Example: How a Survey's Circumstances Can Influence Its Length	68
Getting the Survey in Order	68
Example: An Introduction to a Telephone Survey and Its First Question	69
Example: Ordering Survey Questions (1)	70
Example: Ordering Survey Questions (2)	70
Example: Providing Transitions	70
Checklist to Guide Question Order	71
Questionnaire Format: Aesthetics and Other Concerns	71
Response Format	71
Example: Response Formats	71
Branching Questions, or the Infamous "Skip" Pattern	71
Example: Skip Patterns or Branching Questions	72
Administration: Who Gives What to Whom?	72
Self-Administered Questionnaires	72
Checklist for Using Self-Administered Questionnaires	73
Interviews	74
Reliability and Validity: The Quality of Your Survey	76
Is the Survey Reliable?	76
Example: Internal Consistency Counts	77
Example: Internal Consistency Does Not Count	77
Is the Survey Valid?	78
Selecting and Adapting Surveys	79
Example: Excerpt From a Real Online Service Agreement for Free Survey Items (Names Changed)	79
Guidelines for Finding Useable and Useful Surveys in the Research Literature	79
Example: Search for School Dropout Surveys: Sample Findings From the Web of Science	81
Example: Sample Reports of Reliability and Validity in the Research Literature	82
Finding Surveys on the Web	84
Example: Search for Education Surveys: A Sample Page From the National Center for Education Statistics	85
The Survey Is Put on Trial: Guidelines for Pilot Testing	85
A Far-Reaching World: Surveys, Language, and Culture	87
Guidelines for Translating Surveys	87
Example: Question About Ethnicity: U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office of Minority Health	88

Chapter 4. Sampling	93
Overview	93
Sample Size and Response Rate: Who and How Many?	93
Example: Random and Convenience Sampling	94
Random Sampling Methods	95
Example: Simple Random Sampling (1)	95
Example: Not Random Sampling	96
Example: Simple Random Sampling (2)	96
Making the Decision	96
Stratified Random Sampling	96
Example: Stratified Random Sampling	97
Making the Decision	97
Simple Random Cluster Sampling	98
Example: Simple Random Cluster Sampling	98
Making the Decision	98
Systematic Sampling	99
Making the Decision	99
Convenience Samples	99
Making the Decision	100
Other Convenience Sampling Methods	100
Example: Other Convenience Samples	100
Finding the Sample: Who Is In? Who Is Out?	102
How Large Should Your Sample Be?	102
The Standard Error	103
Statistical Methods: Sampling for Two Groups and an Intervention	103
Example: Sample Size Calculations for Sampling Two Groups and an Intervention	104
Subgroups, Measures, Resources, and Schedule	105
Five Questions to Ask When Determining Sample Size	106
Example: Calculating Sample Size in a Survey of Employees in an Experimental and Control Group	107
Example: Power to Detect Differences	108
Example: 80% Power and Effect	108
Example: Sample Size, Effect, and Power	109
Response Rate	110
Tips for Improving Response Rate	110
Weighting	110
Example: Calculating Poststratification Weights	111
Margin of Error and Confidence Level	112
Sample Size and the Margin of Error	113

Chapter 5. Survey Design: Environmental Control	117
Overview	117
Which Designs Are Available?	118
Example: Surveys With Differing Designs	118
Cross-Sectional Survey Designs	119
Example: Cross-Sectional Design	119
Making the Decision	121
Longitudinal Surveys	121
Example: Longitudinal Surveys: Cohort Design	121
Making the Decision	121
Experimental Survey Designs	121
Example: A Nonrandomized Controlled Trial or
Quasi-Experimental Design	122
Example: A Nonrandomized Controlled Trial
With a Longitudinal Design	122
Example: A Randomized Controlled Trial or
True Experiment	123
Example: A Randomized Controlled Trial With
a Longitudinal Design	123
Factorial Designs: Special Cases	124
Making the Decision	124
Other Survey Designs: Normative and Case Control	125
Normative Survey Design	125
Example: Normative Design	125
Example: Normative Design—Comparison to a Model	125
Making the Decision	125
Case Control Design	126
Making the Decision	126
Example: Case Control Design	126
Survey Design Validity	126
Internal Validity	127
External Validity	128
Surveys, Research Design, and Internal and External Validity	129
Example: Cross-Sectional Survey and Threats to Validity	129
Example: Longitudinal Design and Threats to Validity	129
Example: Randomized Controlled Trials and Validity	130
Surveys With Qualitative Data: Threats to Internal and External Validity	130
Example: Qualitative Studies and Validity	131

Chapter 6. Analyzing and Organizing Data From Surveys	135
Overview	135
What Is Typical Anyway? Some Commonly Used Methods for Analyzing Survey Data	136
Descriptive Statistics	137
Example: Preschool Purposes Questionnaire	137
Example: Frequency of Questionnaire Responses	137
Example: Grouped Ratings of Preschool Purposes by 50 Directors	138
Averages: Means, Medians, and Modes	138
Example: Computing the Median for an Even Number of Scores	139
Example: Computing the Median for an Odd Number of Scores	139
Variation: Range, Variance, and Standard Deviation	141
Correlation and Regression	142
Example: Rank Order Correlation	142
Differences Between Groups	143
Statistical Differences	145
Statistical Significance	146
Surveying Differences: Usual Methods	149
Chi-Square	149
Example: Chi-Square	149
The t Test	149
Example: t Test	149
The Mann-Whitney U Test	150
Example: Mann-Whitney U Test	150
ANOVA	150
Risks and Odds	150
Example: Odds Ratio and Relative Risk	150
To Be or Not to Be: Statistician or Qualitative Analyst?	152
Content Analysis, Open-Ended Responses, and Comments	152
Example: Hypothetical Content Analysis: Teasing Boys and Girls	152
Putting the Cart in Front of the Horse: Selecting Analysis Methods	153
Seven Questions to Answer Before Choosing an Analysis Method	153
Data Management	157
Creating a Code Book or Operations Manual	157
Example: Excerpt From the CARPS, a Survey to Detect Binge Drinking in College Students	157
Example: Excerpt From the Code Book for the CARPS, a Survey to Detect Binge Drinking	158
Establishing Reliable Coding	159
Measuring Agreement: The Kappa	159
Measuring Agreement Between Two Coders: The Kappa (κ) Statistic	160
Reviewing Surveys for Missing Data	161

Entering the Data	162
Example: Survey Responses From Six People	162
Cleaning the Data	163
Validating Survey Data	164

Chapter 7. Presenting the Survey Results	167
Overview	167
Reproducing the Questionnaire	167
Example: Reporting Results With the Questionnaire	168
Example: Online Survey Statistics in Real Time	169
Using Tables	169
Example: Shell Table Describing Children in Two Schools	170
Example: Shell Table for Comparing Children in Two Schools	170
Some Table Preparation Rules	171
Drawing Pie Diagrams	172
Using Bar Graphs	172
Using Line Graphs	174
Example: Downloaded Results of a Customer Satisfaction Survey	176
Example: Transferring the Results of One Question
Into Bar and Line Graphs	177
Drawing Diagrams or Pictures	178
Example: Words and Diagrams in Survey Reports	178
Writing the Results of a Survey	179
Organizing the Report	180
Example: Structured Abstract of a Survey Report	180
Survey Reporting Checklists and Guides	182
Clear-Writing Tips	183
The Oral Presentation	184
Slide Presentations	184
Oral Versus Written Reports: A Difference in Conversation	187
