

Contents

Foreword by James Dickey ix

Preface xiii

PART ONE 1

Notes on Poetry 3

Poetry as a Creative Principle 8

Pure Poetry 19

Why I Write Poetry 30

How I Write Poetry 33

The Poet as Teacher 52

Will and Psyche in Poetry 59

The Theory of Poetry 76

Poetry and Politics 86

Literary Death 89

A Haphazard Poetry Collecting 92

PART TWO 109

Empson's Poetry 111

Pound's New Cantos 126

Some Memories of Dylan Thomas 141

West Coast Rhythms 144

Memory of Meeting Yeats, AE, Gogarty, James Stephens 148

Emerson and Wallace Stevens 153

On Theodore Roethke's Poetry 172

Robert Frost: His Personality 179

Remarks on Auden 202

Robert Frost in the Clearing 205
Reflections on Wallace Stevens in 1976 214

PART THREE 217

An Interview with Richard Eberhart (Shenandoah, 1964) 219

An Interview with Richard Eberhart (William and Mary Review, 1964) 235

An Interview with Richard Eberhart (Pulse, 1973) 249

An Interview with Richard Eberhart (American Poetry Review, 1977) 264

An Interview with Richard Eberhart (New York Quarterly, 1978) 302

EPILOGUE 309

National Book Award Acceptance Speech 311