

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Preface	ix
I. The Myth of America as New World Garden of Eden	3
The Garden	3
The American Adam	5
The American Eve	8
II. The Temptress	27
Elsie Venner: The Literary Convention with Psychological Trappings	29
Beatrice Rappaccini: The Literary Convention as Allegory	40
In Which the Ambiguities of the Dark Lady are Compounded by the Appearance of the Pale Maiden: Melville's Isabel	47
Celia Madden: The Temptress as "Greek"	54
Hawthorne's Miriam: The Temptress as Jew	62
Hester Prynne: The Dark Lady as "Deviant"	72

Contents

III. The American Princess	85
The Pale Maiden	87
Daisy Miller	97
Milly Theale	101
Maggie Verver	112
Isabel Archer	126
IV. The Great Mother	143
The Archetype: Olive Chancellor	143
The Mother-Surrogates	153
The Neglecters	173
The Real Witch-Bitches	182
V. The New Woman	204
The New Myth of Atalanta	204
Zenobia: The New Woman as Tragedy- Queen	208
The Unnatural Lady Reformers of Boston	220
Through the Eye of the Needle	234
Edna Pontellier: The New Woman as Woman	243
Notes	259
Bibliography	276
Index	289