

CONTENTS

	Page
PREFACE	Arthur Seldon 3
THE AUTHOR	8
I A NEW MEASURE FOR A BUSY MARKET	9
Many markets	9
Two dole queues	11
A radical proposal	12
The relevant indicator	12
A busy market	13
Movement on and off the register	15
Rapid turnover	16
A new classification	19
II THE UNEMPLOYED: AGE, SEX, DURATION	20
A. Age	20
Occupational pensioners	21
Adult students	21
Young people	23
B. Women at Work	25
Women at work, men at home?	27
C. The Long-term Unemployable	29
Definition	30
Poor prospects	30
'Working and signing'	32
A separate register	33
Difficulties raised	34
III A STRATEGIC MEASURE	36
Unemployment in perspective	36
Percentage of what?	38
An economic signpost at last	39
IV NO VACANCIES?	40
Unimportant and inaccurate	40
Quick study: slow results	41
Vacancy flows	42

V 1970-1974: WHAT HAPPENED AND WHAT SHOULD HAVE HAPPENED	43
The macro-trap	43
The critical moment	44
From stock to flow	46
Monetary policy and unemployment	48
VI NATURAL OR UNNATURAL UNEMPLOYMENT?	49
The 'natural rate'	50
Neglect of 'real' forces causing unemployment	51
A measure of the natural rate?	51
Institutional reforms to reduce the natural rate	53
(i) Geographical immobility	53
(ii) Restrictive practices	53
(iii) 'Compression of differentials'	54
(iv) Incomes policy	55
A distorted labour market	56
APPENDIX: Unnatural confusion	57
VII CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS	58
From measurement to measures	59
EPILOGUE	Ralph Harris 62
A succession of errors	63
The evolution of ideas into policy	64
The dominance of Keynesianism	66
A conspiracy of silence?	67
The danger of government subsidies	69
QUESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION	71
SOURCES AND BIBLIOGRAPHY	72
TABLES
I. Labour turnover measured by annual issue of P45 forms and placings through employment offices, 1965-66 to 1974-75	14
II. The labour market at work: entries and exits, 1967-73	15
III. Expected duration of unemployment per 100 people joining the register, 1961-65 and 1967-70	16

IV. Duration of male and female unemployment in Great Britain as a percentage of total unemployment, 1950-74	17
V. Adult students registered as unemployed, 1971-75	22
VI. Labour market absorption of new workers, 1968-74	25
VII. Changes in the working population in Great Britain: by sex, 1950-74	26
VIII. Vacancies as a ratio of people out of work for more than two months: men and women, 1970-74	28
IX. Male unemployment and the strategic measure: Great Britain, 1970-75	36
X. New vacancies notified by employers in one month, 1970-74	43
XI. Financial support of the unemployed, 1949/50 to 1974/5	55

CHARTS

A. Unemployment by duration as a percentage of total unemployment, 1950 to 1974.	18
B. The strategic measure and male unemployment, 1970 to 1975	37
C. Money supply (M <sub>3</sub> ) and flows in the male labour market, 1969 to 1974	47