

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Introduction	1
Chapter One: Augustanisms and the Moral Basis for Goldsmith's Art	21
Chapter Two: The Craft of Persuasion The Adornment of Prose; The Persuasive Strain in Verse	40
Chapter Three: The Craft of Satire (The Citizen of the World) Lien Chi Altangi and the Pride of Fortitude; Religion, Liberty, and Commerce: The Pursuit of Trifles; The Man in Black and the Pathology of Universal Benevolence	96
Chapter Four: The Craft of Humor Goldsmith's Theory of Humor and the Shabby Beau—a Caricature of Aristocratic Taste; "Little" Beau Nash: The Monarch of Genteel Fashion	138
Chapter Five: Fortune and the Heavenly Bank: The Vicar of Wakefield as Sustained Satire The Integrity of Dr. Primrose; The Vicar of Wakefield as Burlesque; The "Dying Swan" or Satire?; The Vicar of Wakefield and Fortune	166
Conclusion	231
Index	237