

Contents

Foreword	ix
Guest Commentary from the Publisher of the German book	xi
Preface.....	xiii
Acknowledgments.....	xv
CHAPTER 1 Introduction.....	1
1.1 Multiscreen	1
1.2 Important Terms.....	3
1.3 The Book and its Usage.....	6
1.3.1 Correlations.....	8
1.4 Orientation Aids and Central Themes.....	9
CHAPTER 2 Four Screens	11
2.1 Overview.....	11
2.2 Categorization of Devices.....	13
2.3 Device Classes	13
2.3.1 Mobile Device.....	18
2.4 Device Differences.....	20
2.4.1 Conceptual Considerations	20
2.4.2 Device Experience	22
2.5 Device Prototypes	24
2.5.1 Smartphone	25
2.5.2 Tablet	27
2.5.3 Laptop or Desktop PC	28
2.5.4 Smart TV.....	29
2.5.5 Smartwatch	31
2.6 Multiscreen Ecosystems	33
2.6.1 Ecosystems	33
2.6.2 Ecosystem and Experience Categories	34
2.7 Conclusion and Tips	36
CHAPTER 3 Users and Their Typification.....	39
3.1 Understanding Users.....	39
3.1.1 Device Usage	40
3.1.2 Prototypical Users.....	41
3.2 Daily Routine.....	41
3.2.1 Touchpoint Matrix	42
3.2.2 Multiscreen Day Flow	43

3.3	Motives and Needs.....	45
3.3.1	Emotion Map	46
3.3.2	Application of the Emotion Map	50
3.4	Typification and Segmentation.....	51
3.5	User Prototypes.....	54
3.5.1	Overview of User Prototypes.....	58
3.5.2	Margaret Brown	60
3.5.3	Barbara Stewart.....	61
3.5.4	Kelly Adams.....	62
3.5.5	Melissa Anderson.....	63
3.5.6	Andrew Collins	64
3.5.7	Mark Hudson	65
3.5.8	Robert Sullivan.....	66
3.5.9	Larry Newton	67
3.5.10	Typical Daily Routine of Larry Newton	68
3.5.11	Touchpoint Matrix of Larry Newton.....	68
3.5.12	Multiscreen Day Flow of Larry Newton.....	70
3.5.13	Emotion Map of Larry Newton.....	70
3.5.14	Pioneers of the Digital Society Analyzed in Detail	71
3.6	Conclusion and Tips.....	73
CHAPTER 4	Context of Use	75
4.1	The Context of Use	76
4.1.1	Context Complexity	77
4.2	Parameters of the Context of Use	78
4.2.1	Environment.....	80
4.2.2	Situation	82
4.2.3	Usage Mode	84
4.2.4	Detailed Questions	86
4.3	Context Relevance	88
4.4	The Mobile Context of Use.....	91
4.4.1	Behavioral Patterns in the Mobile Context.....	98
4.5	Context Prototypes.....	99
4.6	Conclusion and Tips.....	100
CHAPTER 5	Strategies and Examples	101
	Overview	102
5.1	Mobile First.....	106
5.2	Simultaneity	109
5.3	Social TV	111
5.3.1	Classification of Social TV	115
5.3.2	Social TV: The Five Stages of Interaction	116

5.4	Device Shifting	118
5.5	Complementarity.....	124
5.6	Synchronization	133
5.7	Screen Sharing	141
5.8	Coherence	144
	5.8.1 Adaptability.....	147
5.9	Fluidity.....	162
	5.9.1 Service Equality.....	164
	5.9.2 Fluid Interaction.....	166
5.10	Smart Content	168
	5.10.1 Content Strategy.....	174
	5.10.2 Extensibility.....	176
5.11	Mashability	179
5.12	Communification.....	185
5.13	Gamification.....	191
5.14	Storyfication.....	195
5.15	Emotionality.....	200
5.16	Microjoyment.....	207
5.17	Hybrid Media	214
5.18	Technical Challenges	216
5.19	Legal Issues.....	219
5.20	Conclusion and Tips.....	224
CHAPTER 6	Next-Generation Information Experience and the Future Of Content (Management).....	229
6.1	Jumping-Off Point.....	230
6.2	Innovative Concepts and Trends	231
	6.2.1 Trends and Challenges.....	231
6.3	The Future of Content Management (Systems).....	235
	6.3.1 The Need for Smart Content.....	235
	6.3.2 Smart Content Management	236
	6.3.3 System, Methods, and Processes	236
	6.3.4 Content Management, CMS Interface, and User Experience	238
	6.3.5 Information Experience: Making Information into an Experience.....	241
6.4	New Requirements from Authors and Editors	243
	6.4.1 Author Experience Versus Editor Experience.....	243
	6.4.2 Customized Tools and Editing Modes	243
	6.4.3 Content Manager Experience Design Process	244
6.5	Editor- and Content-Centered Process.....	245
6.6	Conclusion and tips.....	246

CHAPTER 7 Content Design and User Interface Architecture for Multiscreen Projects	247
7.1 A Crucial Shift for Content (Striking New Paths).....	247
7.1.1 Multiscreen-Ready Information Experience.....	250
7.1.2 An Independent Method for an Uncertain Future.....	251
7.1.3 Four Core Areas	253
7.2 Building Block Principle	254
7.2.1 Modular Approach: Atomic Design and Content Modeling.....	254
7.2.2 UI and Content Inventory (and Audit).....	257
7.2.3 Modeling According to the Building Block Principle	258
7.2.4 Correlation between Content and UI.....	259
7.2.5 The Content Model Defines the (Back End) UI (Model) ...	260
7.2.6 Universality and Comprehensibility	261
7.3 Processes and Tools	262
7.3.1 Methodical Approach.....	262
7.3.2 Central Content (Management) Hub	263
7.3.3 A Modeling Software that is Suitable for the Building Block Principle	266
7.3.4 Quo Vadis Content and User Interface?.....	267
7.4 Conclusion and Tips	268
CHAPTER 8 Conclusion and Outlook	269
8.1 Summary	269
8.2 Multiscreen and Beyond	270
8.3 The Future of Content Creation and User Interfaces.....	275
CHAPTER 9 Appendix	277
9.1 Persons in this Book	277
9.2 About the Author	280
9.3 References and Sources	281
9.3.1 Image Credits.....	303
Index	305